GALION PLANT WORKERS ACT TO FORM UNION

Call for Members at Meeting of 300 North Electric Co. Workers.

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 6—Approximately 300 North Electric company employes attended a meeting at Maccabee Hall Wednesday night, called by a nucleus of independent workers seeking recruits for a company union.

The organization, tentatively called the "Union of Employes of the North Electric Company," is headed by George Zaebst of Galion with Hugh Goodrich as vice president and Mrs. Henry Cowl as secretary-treasurer.

The organization has retained the services of Attorney Edward Myers of Bucyrus as legal adviser. Myers, who spoke to the meeting last night, was instrumental in the formation of an independent union at the Crawford Steel Foundry Co. in Bucyrus.

To Seek Election

Myers told the group which comprised both members of the UAW-CIO and unaffiliated workers that the independent group feels that it represents a majority of the North company employes and will petition the NLRB for an election to determine whether the independent union or the UAW shall be the bargaining agent for North company workers.

Zaebst, following the meeting, declined to reveal the number of employes that had agreed to affiliate with the independent organization, nucleus of which was formed before the 74-day UAW strike ended.

Some Boos Heard

The meeting for the most part was orderly with occasional booing by workers, said by police who had the meeting under observation, to be members of the UAW.

Herbert Arnold, shop committeeman for Local 951 of the UAW in the North Electric plant at Galion, attempted to speak immediately following the adjournment of the meeting. He was asked to leave by a member of the police after the audience had attempted to shout him down.

Before being removed, Arnold managed to question the "good faith" of the company in respect to the agreement reached settling the strike. He accused the company of intending to foster the formation of an independent union despite the agreement made with the UAW-CIO to accept a cross check of the union's membership cards in respect to determining majority representation.

Clause in Agreement

A clause in the agreement between the company and the UAW reads: "Any and all negotiations provided for (under the agreement) shall cease if and when any group of employes of the company file any petition with the NLRB claiming majority representation of any alleged appropriate unit."

Under NLRB regulations only 30 per cent of the employes must be represented to file with the labor board, and that may be done legally even before the union demanded cross-check of its pledge cards has been completed. Concerning the cross-check, Company Attorney Robert Jamison has declared that such procedure does not legally make the UAW bargaining agent in the plant.

ATOM SECRET SAID TO BE OUT

Molotov Declares U. S. Advantage Has Long Ceased To Exist.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 6 — Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia asserted today that the secret of the atom bomb "has long ceased to exist."

Molotov, speaking on the eve of the 30th anniversary of the Russian revolution, told the Russian people in a speech broadcast from Moscow:

"It is interesting that the expansionist circles of the United States, a new, peculiar sort of illusion has been formed about their internal strength—a belief in the secret of the atom bomb, although this secret has long ceased to exist."

A Moscow radio commentator said cheers greeted this remark.

"Evidently the imperialists need this faith in the atom bomb, which as is known, is not a means of defense but a weapon of aggression," Molotov said. "Many are indignant that the U.S.A. and Great Britain hamper the United Nations from adopting a final decision on the prohibition of atomic weapons."

Russia's "industrial output has reached prewar levels," Molotov said.

"Had there been no war, there would today have been unheard-of advances in our cities and towns. But for the war, which destroyed many important agricultural centers, we would be better supplied today than any other country in Europe or elsewhere."

Molotov declared that during the year British scientists twice had protested against the action of the United States in keeping the atom bomb "secret".

"Twice," he said, "they have published statements to this effect, expressing dissatisfaction that Britain can only say 'yes' to the United States in this business."

Molotov's was the first major statement marking tomorrow's celebration of the revolution anniversary, but whether it would be the only one by a top government leader was not clear immediately.

The foreign minister declared Russia now "is just beginning" to reach her power and was opening a new phase of her history since the revolution.

REPORT POULTRY MARKET GLUTTED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—The agriculture department reported today—on the fifth poultryless Thursday of the food conservation program—that the nation's markets are being glutted with poultry.

Prices are going down, it added, and city dealers are urging country shippers to hold their chickens back for lack of a market.

Cold storage stocks of frozen poultry, which on Oct. 1 were at record levels for that date, continued to increase last month to such an extent that the industry was said to be running out of space to store dressed poultry.

The department added in its monthly report on the poultry market that the low volume of consumer buying "mystified" the trade because poultry was being offered at prices relatively low as compared with other meats.

"No satisfactory explanation for this has been found," the report said.

STATE TO PREPARE FOR BONUS PAYMENT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6—Nine hundred thousand Ohioans who served in the Army, Navy or Marines during World War II toyed today with plans for spending $300,000,000 in bonus money voted them last Tuesday by a grateful state.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today called a meeting of the state sinking fund commission for next Monday, Nov. 10, at 10 a. m. to begin the work of providing facilities for processing applications and making payments.

The Constitutional amendment making payment of a bonus possible was one of four approved Tuesday by the state's electorate. Voters also gave the nod to these:

Requiring gasoline and auto license tax revenues be used only for highway and street improvements. (1,025,000 votes for; 662,-719 against.)

Increasing term of probate judges from four years to six. (856,433 for; 684,142 against).

Adding governor and state treasurer to the state sinking fund commission. (784,100 for; 759,138 against).

None, however, received the overwhelming support accorded the bonus amendment, which drew 1,479,522 favorable votes and 460,-756 dissents.

Rent Boost Denied Landlords in Chicago

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods today rejected a recommendation of the Chicago rent advisory board for a 15 per cent rent increase in the Chicago area.

Woods said the advisory board failed to "appropriately substantiate its recommendation, as required by the housing and rent act of 1947."

SURVEY SHOWS FOODLESS DAYS LACK OBSERVANCE

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — A nationwide survey revealed today that most restaurants outside of eastern cities virtually are ignoring President Truman's meatless, eggless and poultryless days.

The survey, conducted by International News Service at the end of the first month of the food conservation drive, includes reports from leading local restaurant associations in 28 large cities.

SERVICE GROUPS TO FINISH FUND DRIVE

Will Work To Raise Balance Needed for Quota.

Six Marion service clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce today prepared to take over the cleanup campaign for the Marion Community Chest Foundation.

Plans for the cleanup were made yesterday at a meeting of presidents with the various groups and trustees of the foundation. At the same time it was decided to extend the campaign until Nov. 15.

Cards of Marion residents who have not been solicited in the campaign will be distributed to members of the seven groups. After contacting prospective givers the individual workers will report back to their club presidents who will make a final report on the success of the drive.

Approximately $18,000 still is needed to meet the goal.

Additional share - holders in "Marion's Future" are enrolled in the annual Community Chest campaign to raise $60,043 to finance the agencies of the Marion Community Foundation, figures at campaign headquarters show.

Added to the special gifts shareholders are Dr. Frederick Merchant, Pollak Steel Co., Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Charles Raymond and L. R. King. National stores reported include Moore's, Schulte Co., Cussins & Fearn, Moskin's, Montgomery Ward Co., W. T. HUGHES AIDES VOICE PROTEST ON TAX DEBT

Say Committee Denying Them Right To Answer; Chairman Reassures Them.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Representatives of Howard Hughes complained today the senate war investigating committee unfairly is denying them opportunity to answer an assertion that Hughes owes the government $5,919,921 more in taxes for the war years.

Committee Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) contended, however, that Noah Dietrich, executive vice president of the Hughes Tool Co., told him he did not want to resume the stand at once. Dietrich was the witness when hearings recessed yesterday.

Ferguson told reporters Hughes officials will be given full opportunity to give evidence later.

Tom Slack, Hughes' attorney, voiced the complaint he and Dietrich had been refused a request to testify on the profits and taxes issue which was injected into the hearings yesterday by Senator Williams (R-Del).

Slack told newsmen that "later won't do us any good. Everybody will have forgotten about it."

Called Unprecedented

Before the hearing resumed today, Slack told reporters that so far as he knows it is unprecedented for a senate committee to send anyone to the internal revenue department "to advocate or persuade the commissioner to take one view or another with respect to an individual's taxes." He added:

"We intend to try our tax cases as heretofore in the tribunals set up for that purpose. We could not obtain a fair trial on those matters here and do not propose to attempt it."

"This committee is not attempting to try any tax case," Ferguson said.

He read into the record two letters from the bureau of internal revenue which said any additional tax assessments are subject to review.

General On Stand Today

Brig. Gen. J. F. Phillips, whose name figured in last summer's phase of the committee's investigation into $40,000,000 worth of war contracts awarded Hughes for two new-type aircraft, was scheduled as a witness today.

An air force memorandum introduced then said Philips had given AAF officials the "history of the political background of the F-11 (photo reconnaissance plane) project."

Hughes was not on hand for yesterday's renewal. Neither was John W. Meyer, the free spending contact man for the millionaire movie producer, plane builder and tool manufacturer.

Another witness listed for testimony today, however, was C. M. Bailey, a government accountant mentioned in earlier testimony as having checked Meyer's expense accounts. These showed an outlay of some $164,000, with large sums listed as entertainment for government officials concerned with aircraft contracts.

CHANGES PLEA AS MURDER TRIAL OPENS

Admits Slaying of Kenton Woman at Indian Lake.

Special to The Star

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Nov. 6—Roger Williams, a 33-year-old handyman, pleaded guilty today a few hours after he went on trial on a charge of first degree murder before a three-judge court.

He is accused of slaying Minta Webb Rothwell, 25, of Kenton at an Indian Lake restaurant last May 28.

The court planned to hear testimony to determine the degree of guilt.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the state supreme court appointed Common Pleas Judges Elmer F. Godwin of Logan county, Arthur D. Tudor of Hardin county and Chester Pendelton of Hancock county to hear the case.

Attorneys for Williams waived a jury trial after examination of 150 persons failed to result in seating of a panel.

Williams allegedly shot and fatally wounded Mrs. Rothwell, his former housekeeper, in an Indian Lake resort restaurant after she had refused him a date.

Earlier, Williams was denied a change of venue on grounds that adverse newspaper stories had prejudiced prospective jurors in Logan county.

Husband Suffered by Church Ban, Amish Woman Tells Jury

By The Associated Press

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 6—The wife of an Amish farmer, who has sued four church officials for $40,000 in damages because they "shunned" him from the sect, testified today her husband "lost weight, became nervous and had to visit doctors" after the ban was imposed.

Mrs. Andrew Yoder, mother of seven children, told a common pleas court jury that her husband purchased an automobile in 1942 to drive their year-old paralyzed daughter, Lizzie, to Wooster for medical care.

"We couldn't take the sick baby on that long, 15-mile trip in a buggy to see the doctor, so we had to use a car," she said, explaining that use of the auto caused 33-year-old Andrew to be boycotted by the Helmuth district Amish church.

Joins "Liberal Branch"

Andrew transferred to a more liberal branch of the church before he was banned, she said, but later suffered ill health because of the boycott.

Dan Y. Yoder, 38-year-old brother of Andrew, said he asked Pastor Isaac Miller of Apple Creek, O. to lift the ban against Andrew last year, but said the minister told him "the whole congregation would have to lift it."

Dan reported he also had been banned for a period of a few weeks for associating with his brother, and added, "I could visit Andy, but not at meal times—because I wasn't supposed to eat with him."

About 75 per cent of the 60 Amish families in the area refused to talk to Andy or have anything to do with him" during the last five years, the Elder Yoder testified.

Often Banned

Menno Gingerich, a 66-year-old former churchman, reported that he had been banned from the church intermittently for the last 35 years with the first "shun" imposed when he associated with his brother, who previously had been expelled from the sect.

The suit accusing church officials of causing Andrew's social ostracism was expected to be turned over to the jury late today.

The suit involves imposition on Andrew J. Yoder of the Amish "mite" or boycott which is based on an article of the Dortrecht confession of faith, adopted in Dortrecht, Holland, in 1632, and generally recognized and used by the conservative Mennonites in America.

Testimony at the opening trial session yesterday featured a statement by Yoder that he "felt like a whipped dog" since imposition of the boycott five years ago and a declaration by one of the defendant church officials that the boycott had been imposed on Yoder after he transferred his membership to a congregation in another district.

Gives Reason for Change

Yoder told the jury of nine men and three women he changed to a more liberal congregation so he could purchase an automobile to transport his invalid daughter for medical treatment.

Regulations of the bearded sect

from which Yoder transferred forbid ownership or operation of an automobile.

Yoder testified that shortly after the boycott was announced all church members in Wayne and Holmes counties refused to have any dealings with him, to assist him in harvesting crops or to eat at the same table.

The action also impaired his health and caused expenditure of large amounts of money for medical services, Yoder added.

The four defendants, Bishop John W. Helmuth of Beach City, ministers Isaac L. Miller of Apple Creek and John J. Nisley of Fredericksburg, and Deacon Emanuel D. Wengerd of Beach City, ap-

TAFT SEES TRUMAN ADDING TO CONTROLS

By The Associated Press

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 6 — Sen. Robert A. Taft told a Republican meeting last night that President Truman and his advisers "are flirting with new kinds of controls which they would like to see imposed."

The Ohio Republican, charging the administration showed slight concern for the success of its food conservation plan, said "one may well suspect that the failure of the plan to bring about savings is to be used as a reason for advocating compulsory controls."

"The whole buying policy of the administration," he said, "seems to be directed towards making conditions worse instead of better."

Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, declared "I am quite certain you cannot control distribution successfully in time of peace without creating black markets. It leads to control of prices, and control of prices must lead to control of wages."

The Ohioan spoke under the auspices of the Tulsa County Republican committee. He left for New Haven, Conn., immediately after his talk.

TACKLE TOUGH PEACE PROBLEM

Deputies Meet To Lay Groundwork for Later Big Four Meeting.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Nov. 6—Deputy foreign ministers of the Big Four met today—in an atmosphere of pessimism—to tackle the tough, deadlocked problems involved in writing peace treaties for Germany and Austria.

The deputies, charged with doing the spadework for a meeting of the council of foreign ministers here on Nov. 25, convened amid reports that Britain, France, Russia and the United States were split as badly as ever on the major issues in the two treaties.

Some informants, unofficial but usually reliable, said the rift had developed so far that the United States already had drafted a plan which would amount to a peace pact with that portion of Germany outside the Russian-occupied eastern region.

Britain was pictured as ready to adopt the role of moderator between Russia and the United States in any disputes which develop, and as being more hopeful than confident that accord could be reached.

France appeared ready to play its traditional role in any question involving Germany. One official French informant said his country would oppose any strong central government for Germany such as Russia demanded last spring in Moscow, and would hold out for internationalization of the Ruhr.

The customary question mark hung over the attitude of the Russians. There was speculation that they might relinquish their demands for reparations—$10,000,000 was the figure they mentioned at Moscow—to be paid from current production and might suggest general withdrawal of occupation forces.

The last Big Four session on the German and Austrian treaties ended last April in Moscow with all the vital issues deadlocked.

Wage-Hour Law Repeal Asked by Lumbermen

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Lumber manufacturers called today for outright repeal of the wage-hour act, describing it as "basically unsound in principle and unworkable in application."

There were the latest in a series of industry groups appearing before a house labor subcommittee to advocate elimination of the nine-year old law, which established the 40-hour week and 40-cent hourly minimum wage.

The committee headed by Rep. McConnell (R-Pa) is studying the act to determine whether any changes are needed.

MESSAGE WILL OMIT MENTION OF TAX ISSUE

Both Parties To Have Their Own Tax Programs, Statements Today Indicate.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Speaker Martin lined up with President Truman today in opposition to any tax reduction legislation at the special session of congress starting Nov. 17.

Martin (R-Mass) told a news conference he believes the special session will be kept too busy considering foreign aid and price legislation to take up taxes.

But he said it was his own "personal inclination" that tax reductions should be considered as the first order of business at the regular session starting in January.

Shortly before Martin gave this opinion:

►President Truman had informed a news conference that his message to the special session will contain no suggestions for revision of taxes.

►Officials in a position to know had said the Truman administration is definitely planning to offer its own tax program to congress some time next year.

Martin's views ran counter to those previously expressed by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the house ways and means committee, who is demanding that the special session pass a "quickie" $4,000,000,000 tax reduction bill.

The speaker emphasized that his views are strictly his own.

No Statement On Veto

President Truman declined to say whether he would veto a tax reduction bill if the special session would send one to him.

However, he told a news conference his own message would be confined strictly to the purposes for which he has called congress back into session. These purposes, he said, are European aid and curbs on inflation.

Told that Rep. Doughton (D-NC) had predicted a veto for any tax reduction bill at the Nov. 17 session, Mr. Truman said he will take care of that situation when it reaches him.

Planning Program

However, it was learned that the administration is definitely planning to offer its own tax program to congress next year.

Officials in a position to know made that clear today. But they added that details are still to be decided.

Indications are the program will stress "revision" and "reform" of the tax system over outright cuts.

The biggest certainty is that there will be no proposal resembling the twice-vetoed $4,000,000,000 bill which Republican sponsors have promised to revive at the outset of the special session of congress open Nov. 17.

Those two measures would have cut individual income taxes by from 30 per cent for low income groups to 10.5 per cent for those in the top brackets.

Well-posted authorities cite as a public tip-off to the administration's intentions to come up with its own tax proposals in 1948 the treasury's performance at a house ways and means committee hearing Tuesday on tax treatment of farm cooperatives.

Vote Pleases Truman

President Truman said he is very happy over the Democratic victory in Kentucky, and is happier still about the large turnout of voters in Tuesday's off year elections.

He told his news conference while he had not analyzed the election returns, the volume of voting showed the people are learning the responsibility of citizens is especially important.

The future of free government, he added, rests at the ballot box.

The President also said he wants congress to act on emergency aid for Europe before taking up anti-inflation legislation.

But he considers inflation controls and European aid equally important and both should be pursued with vigor.

He said it would do no good to make an appropriation to buy 100,000,000 bushels of wheat if the money appropriated would actually buy only 25,000,000 bushels because of a rise in prices.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Brick Wall Flaking Off

Q: The bricks on the eastern wall of our home have begun to break off in thin flakes. On close examination, we find there is a white mold which seems to be responsible. Can you suggest a remedy for the condition?

A: The trouble is probably due to the absorption of moisture by the brick and mortar. After wire-brushing the white coating off the brick, you may be able to check the trouble with two coats of dampness cement paint, which is intended for masonry. Get it from a dealer in mason supplies; it is a powder to be mixed with water. Or you could apply two coats of transparent waterproofing instead of the cement base paint. If the brick are very soft and porous, you had better get a mason to put in better ones of a harder burned variety.

Changing Fuel

Q. I am considering changing my coal heat to oil or gas. I think I would prefer gas if it would not be so expensive. Could you tell me about what the difference would be? In either case I would have the boiler changed to suit the fuel. What would be the advantage if I had oil installed and had a summer and winter hook-up or a gas heater? My house is insulated and has storm windows.

A. I cannot give you a positive answer in regard to costs, since there are so many communities, and gas rates vary so much in each locality. In some sections of the country last winter, so many new gas heaters were installed that the supply of gas was quite insufficient to take care of the new units. Many houses were kept at a low temperature, and a great deal of discomfort was experienced.

It would be well to make sure that there will be an adequate supply of whichever fuel you select. Your local gas company could give a fairly accurate estimate on the gas costs for a season, and your oil burner man could do the same on oil. With an oil fired heating system, it is generally more practical to have a summer and winterhookup for hot-water supply. The cost of operation is not high and you have only one piece of euipment to contend with.

Sticky Floor Varnish

Q. I varnished part of my floor two weeks ago, and it is still sticky. What should I do to it now?

A. Try sponging the floor with turpentine. This should take out the stickiness, but may dull the gloss. If the turpentine hardens and dries the varnish, you could proceed with another coat of a better quality varnish, and do not add any oil or thinner. If you had previously taken off an old layer of varnish with varnish remover, this may be the cause of the stickiness if any of the remover had not been completely cleaned off with turpentine. Read and follow printed directions carefully.

7 PER CENT ALLERGIC

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6—Seven per cent of the people in the United States are suffering from some type of allergy, says Dr. George Piness of Los Angeles. Speaking yesterday at a graduate instructional course in allergy, sponsored by the American College of Allergists at the University of Cincinnati, Dr. Piness said he based his conclusion on recent surveys conducted in many communities throughout the west.

OIL CO. DISTRICT GROUP MEETS HERE

Socony Dealers of 7 Counties Hold Fall Session.

Socony Vacuum Oil Co. dealers from a district made up of seven counties attended a business and social meeting at Hotel Harding last night as guests of the company's district representative, Charles L. Ulrich of 606 Delaware avenue.

There were 65 present at the meeting, the first annual fall district gathering held since the start of the war. During the interval since then meetings have been held in a few of the larger key cities in the state but from now on the pre-war schedule will be followed with sessions in Marion and other district points, Mr. Ulrich said.

Dealers were present from Galion, Bucyrus, Marion, Sycamore, Prospect, Morral, Upper Sandusky, Wharton, Carey and Nevada. In charge was Sam Elliot, Toledo district representative, who, with F. M. Orr of Toledo, district manager, spoke on various phases of sales and service.

Tonight Mr. Ulrich will attend a similar meeting at Mansfield.

WELCOME MEMBER TO WESLEYAN GUILD

One new member, Mrs. Kenneth Flecker, was welcomed into the Wesleyan Service Guild of Prospect Street Methodist church at a meeting Tuesday night with Miss Josephine Ruth of 269 Elm street. Miss Ruth Schott served as co-hostess.

Mildred Patrick was a guest. Devotions were in charge of Miss Schott. Prayer was by Mrs. Marion Wick.

A nominating committee for election of officers at the next meeting was named by the president, Mrs. Carroll Schmidt. Members are Mrs. Howard Mitchell, Mrs. Roland Schaber and Miss Ruth. Committee reports were given and final arrangements were made for the rummage sale to be held Nov. 22 in the Palace theater building. An announcement was made of a Lima district meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild to be held Sunday, Nov. 9, at Epworth Methodist church beginning at 2:30 p. m.

Plans were discussed for a Christmas party at which time secret sisters will be revealed in a gift exchange. Mrs. W. J. Flach read a letter from her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Weiss, missionaries in China, thanking the Guild for the money sent to them in June, which they received recently. Several dresses which are being made by the members to be sent to the Methodist Children's Home in Worthington were turned in.

DEWEY BACKS AID TO EUROPE

Governor Also Demands Administration of Help on Non-Partisan Basis.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey threw his full support behind an aid-to-Europe program last night, urging prompt and effective help for free nations abroad but demanding that it be administered on a business-like basis under "genuinely bi-partisan" direction.

Asserting that "the errors of the past" must be avoided, the titular head of the Republican party proposed that the program be administered in accordance with a statement of policy to be written by congress, made so clear as to this nation's aims "that nobody could misunderstand them, not even the men in the Kremlin."

Dewey, prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, outlined his position—his first public pronouncement on the Marshall plan—at a dinner given by Forobes Magazine in honor of 30 men named as the nation's top-ranking business leaders.

To help assure effective aid, Dewey suggested this six-point program:

1. Emergency aid should not be repayable in dollars. Its proceeds should be used by government recipients to develop productive resources so the aided countries might become self-supporting and that later there may be a return in part in the form of strategic materials exports.

2. Reconstruction aid should be on a straight loan basis for business purposes, administered by American business men.

3. Foreign aid should be supervised by a special authority, a genuinely bi-partisan board.

4. Nations aided may properly be required to specify in detail the measures they will undertake to achieve the major objective of self-help and mutual help under the Marshall, plan, and aid should be given in installments and continued only on the condition of adherence to their own programs.

5. Congress should adopt a clear and settled definition of policy, which might take the form of declaring "it to be a basic policy of the American nation to asist freedom-loving peoples elsewhere in the world who are ready to work with us to find a way back to economic stability."

6. The story of American achievement should be told to the world but not as "in the past, by shipping around the world modernistic paintings done by Communists at the expense of the American government."

When it's night, it's light — on CONCRETE ROADS

At night your headlights do a better job on concrete. Its light gray surface picks up and spreads illumination without "glossy" reflection. Pavement edges and obstructions are clearly defined.

And night and day, concrete's even, gritty-textured surface reduces skidding, aids stopping even in the rain. Driving is safer on concrete.

Concrete Saves Money, Too

Concrete not only saves money in surface maintenance, but usually costs less to build than other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity! Insist on concrete for your roads.

If calcium or sodium chlorides are likely to be used for ice and snow removal, be sure your concrete pavements are built with air-entrained concrete.

SOLON SAYS HELP THOSE WHO HELP THEMSELVES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—A plan to give the bulk of American aid to European countries which do the most to help themselves was proposed today by Senator Ball (R-Minn).

Ball, a member of the appropriations committee which will pass on funds to pay for the administration's proposed European recovery program proposed that economic rebuilding materials be furnished on an "incentive quota" basis.

As he explained the plan, countries which could show increases in their home production in semi-yearly surveys would continue to draw full American aid while those who indicate less inclination to help themselves would be penalized.

WESLEY CIRCLE MEETS

For a meeting of Circle No. 1 of Wesley Methodist church Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Addie McGinnis was hostess in her home on Olney avenue. Mrs. Minnie Boughman presided. Mrs. Cora Daymude was in charge of a program in which parts of a book on India were reviewed by various members of the group. Readings were by Mrs. Nora Mabery, Mrs. Daymude and Mrs. Ida Orr.

Clinton County Dam Work Set To Start

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6—The state conservation division said today the Fisher Construction company of Cincinnati would begin work immediately on construction of a dam for the Cowan's lake project in Clinton county.

The state board of control late yesterday released $372,688 to the division to finance the dam. The division already had signed a contract with the company.

The dam should be completed within a year, the division said, "and then all we'll need will be some rain to begin filling the lake."

The project on Cowan's creek embraces 1,700 acres of land. The lake itself will cover 700 acres. Land for the lake already is being cleared.

Almost 20 pounds of coffee per capita was consumed in the United States during 1946.

Rankin Loses

DEFEAT of Representative John Rankin in the campaign for the Mississippi senate seat of the late Theodore Bilbo was not unexpected. Rankin's billingsgate had left the voters unimpressed, and victory went to Judge J. C. Stennis, who was credited with conducting a clean and intelligent campaign.

Without vituperation or name-calling, Judge Stennis took the customary stand of Mississippi candidates on outside interference. He denounced all outside comment, favorable or unfavorable, on his candidacy and he said nothing whatever on the race issue. He spoke freely on foreign affairs and pledged full support of the United Nations.

The candidate described as the most conservative in the four-man race won. Can it be that Mississippi finally is ashamed of the rabble-rousing politicians who have blackened the state's name?

Statisticians' Picnic

WHATEVER Herbert Hoover's plans for the next few months may be, he may have to change them to take another globe-circling look-see at the world's food supply.

Food relief, like any other kind of relief, is a statisticians' picnic. Figures never lie, but liars figure. One group always tries to high-pressure the United States into giving away more than it can afford; another group (we hope) always tries to play it safe; and both groups always are prepared to reach a compromise.

Latest estimate, from the director general of the food and agriculture organization of United Nations, is that 39,000,000 tons of bread cereals are needed to maintain present rations and that this is 10,000,000 tons more than the available supply, meaning the United States must make up most of the deficit, according to the prevailing school of thought on American responsibility.

This is a big order. It is within a million tons of as big an order as this government was confronted with early in 1946, when Herbert Hoover took a quick look-see on a global flight and whittled down requirements from 11,000,000 tons to 3,600,000 tons, to everybody's relief, except that of a tiny minority of ax-grinders hoping for an excuse to get the American people back under food rationing.

Some of that tiny, but purposeful, minority have been seen around lately; in fact, they've been talking about how dandy it would be to return to wartime rationing. They liked things better that way. It came closer to suiting their long-range objectives.

Do We Hear a Dissent?

THE Communist party of the United States explains it isn't going to join the newest Red Internationale because that would give its opponents an excuse for "new provocations and repressions against the Communists and all other sections of the American labor and progressive movement."

When did the Communist party of the United States become a section of the American labor movement? (Omit the same question about the progressive movement, because no one knows what that is, except Henry Wallace.)

But does anyone hear a dissent from William Green, John Lewis, Philip Murray, or any of half a hundred union executives who customarily dissent violently to the merest slur cast on American labor by non-Communists?

Organized labor's greatest mistake is to let itself be misrepresented and mishandled by Communists with whom it has nothing in common. Any American wage earner whose union spokesmen fail to defend him against the slightest suspicion that he is sympathetic with the principles of the American Communists has been betrayed as truly as if he had been turned over to the advocates of any other form of dictatorship.

If Green, Lewis, Murray et al aren't Communist sympathizers—and they say they aren't—why do they let themselves and their cause be grossly misrepresented by persons who would have to go out of business if they no longer could take advantage of the American labor movement?

"Fast Time" Wins

CLEVELAND'S vote on daylight saving time shows a 25,000 majority in favor of it. East Liverpool also has approved daylight saving, but by a narrow majority. Cleveland's vote will settle the matter for a large segment of northern Ohio.

Daylight saving traditionally has been opposed by labor groups, theater operators and farmers. In this day of the shortened work day it no longer causes the hardship for the laboring man it once did. As for theater owners, patrons will come to their theaters day or night if the entertainment is good. Only the farmer, who must adjust his work schedule to nature, is discommoded to any great extent.

Daylight saving long has been an explosive political issue in Ohio. Tuesday's vote gives a good idea of popular sentiment. The people want it.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

In Search of a Food Distribution Scheme.

APPARENTLY it is obvious now, even to the international economists who are working on the Marshall plan or the Bevin plan or whatever you want to call it, that the United States will not have 18,000,000 pounds of food for export before the next harvest year. As a matter of fact, after we deduct our commitments to Germany and Japan, which we occupy with our troops, and the Latin American countries whose economies are based on the import of grains and fats from the United States, we shall be fortunate if six or seven million tons of food are available for export to Europe out of the shortened harvest this year.

So the Europeans come up with the idea that we give them the money to spend anywhere in the world. That sounds reasonable unless you know something about foreign exchange, whereupon the idea becomes utterly fantastic.

Suppose a large number of American dollars were shipped to the Argentine to buy grain for Europe. Those dollars are worthless to the Argentinians unless they can buy something with them here. Actually, the government of the United States becomes the debtor of the government of the Argentine because it has to redeem the dollars. To get the dollars back we have to let the Argentine buy what they want to buy here, even if we ought not to do the selling because we have a shortage.

Just Supposing

Suppose we were to say to the Argentine: "You keep those paper dollars and get choked with them." Can you imagine the Argentine turning in its wheat or meat on any such risk? Before they shipped a bushel of wheat or a pound of meat, they would have a contract stipulating what is to become of those dollars. The signing of such a contract would stimulate a price rise in this country. Anybody would know that except a government expert.

The only shipments to Europe, therefore, which the United States should underwrite are those which actually arise in this country. Last year the United States—one country—furnished one-half of the world's overseas crop, due to a bumper crop here. But we are paying the penalty in exorbitant prices. Edwin G. Nourse's proposal for reimposed price controls on a few commodities will not solve our problems; in fact, it is a silly departure from all experience which shows, beyond doubt, that controls are either total or ineffective. To control wheat, for instance, without controlling corn, rice and barley would only mean that wheat would disappear and the prices of corn, rice and barley would rise. This is particularly true when the government buys for export. And the government would buy at political rather than controlled prices.

Guarantee Not Possible

The country cannot guarantee, on the present figures, any nation its food supply. We shall give what we are able to give but we purchase a liar's reward when we promise more than we actually have within our own domain.

For some reason, our rulers find it difficult to think straight about this. Last year we exported more railroad equipment than we could afford to, with the result that our own railroads were left with inadequate replacements and wretched efficiency. That has slowed up the economy of this country. In fact, it has slowed up relief, as there were insufficient cars to ship grain swiftly and piles of it were left in fields for lack of storage. The people down in Washington have all sorts of coordinators, but they do not seem to be able to coordinate their data and their ideas.

To summarize: We shall have between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 tons of food surplus over American consumption. (I am giving both the low and high estimates.) This surplus must be divided into three parts: 1. To our occupied areas, Germany and Japan; 2. To fulfill our Latin American obligations; 3. To the 16 Marshall plan countries. We should use for export only what we have and we should give to the Marshall plan countries what we do only as a gift. As a gift, they can only get what is left over from the other categories, between six and seven million tons. Why not tell the truth about that?

The Creeping Terror

By Joseph Alsop

PRAGUE

IN contrast to the rest of Europe, the surface of life here is wonderfully bustling and prosperous. Prague's baroque palaces and modern suburbs could still do with a lick of paint. But the shops are full of goods. The streets are jammed with traffic. And the people are downright fat.

Beneath this happy surface, however, an ominous and tragic fact is only half concealed. Czechoslovakia is in the grip of a creeping terror. Since the end of the war, this has been a show place for optimists. It has been the place where Communists ruled like Democrats, where East and West could meet without an intervening iron curtain, where human freedom survived in the shadow of Soviet power. That period is coming to an end. Within a few months, unless drastic counter-measures are taken, the iron curtain will clank down with finality. The terror, now creeping underground, will be open and unashamed. Czechoslovakia will know the fate of Hungary, of Poland, of Romania and Bulgaria.

It seems incredible that a freedom-loving people, western in habit and tradition, should accept such a fate when there are no Soviet troops in Czechoslovakia. But the Czechs bear deep scars of national neurosis from the experience of the last eight years. All of them are conscious that the Soviet armies in Germany are deployed along their borders. As for their government, President Benes, the beloved link with the past, is aged and ailing.

The Real Rulers

The foreign minister with a great name, Jan Masaryk, is a paunchy man who makes jokes. And since the last election, the real control has been in the hands of the Communists led by Prime Minister Gottwald.

Long ago, the Communists made their preparations for the event that is now occurring. At the head of the army, they placed General Svoboda, commander of the Czechoslovak corps in Russia during the war, rumored holder of a party card, and in any case, a man who knows which side of his bread is buttered. Almost without exception, he has passed over western-experienced Czech officers and promoted those who have Russian associations. Above all, the army's counter-intelligence corps, which is really a secret service, has come under the domination of Communists or men who will do their bidding.

The army is infiltrated and neutralized. The information ministry in overtly Communist hands, is ready to blare propaganda through Soviet-style loudspeakers in every town. Most decisive of all, the ministry of the interior, headed by the Communist Nosek, has transformed all branches of the national police into service organizations of the party. With complete control of the labor unions, and a considerable number of armed partisans, the Communists thus hold all the trumps for any game of coup d' etat.

To be sure, these trumps have long been in Communist hands. But until recently even the more western-minded Communists, like Prime Minister Gottwald and the Deputy Foreign Minister Klementis, seem to have believed that their role was to play the game the western way. Czechoslovakia is economically dependent on its links with the west. When the Marshall plan was announced, Czech Communists and non-Communists alike voted unanimously to send a delegation to the preparatory conference in Paris. This occurred, interestingly enough, after the Czechs had been assured that Poland would do likewise by a visiting group from Warsaw, including influential Communist members of the Polish government.

Stalin Told 'Em

As every one now knows, the Czechs learned their error from Stalin in person. At Moscow, Gottwald had his head washed by the generalissimo. Under the implied threat of rupture of the Czecho-Soviet alliance, the whole cabinet voted unanimously to reverse its previous unanimous vote. In the streets of Prague, people talked of "the new Munich." The incident showed the Czechs how far their independence was impaired. What was far more important, it also showed Moscow that some spirit of independence remained at Prague. The order is now known to have gone out at once, "Put the screws on." The screws are on today. The major manifestation of this fact so far has been the arrest of a large number of members of the Slovak Democratic party on charges of collaboration with "Fascist refugee wreckers."

The atmosphere of terror is already tangible. Already leading non-Communist Czechs are known to be considering flight. And this is only the beginning of the story. All competent authorities here, foreign and Czech, have privately agreed that the end will come with the open suppression of Czechoslovakia's hardly re-won independence, unless those who love their liberties act in the interval in self-defense. They must do so before next spring, the time of the elections for which the present terror is intended to prepare.

U. S. Could Remove War Fears

By Walter Lippmann

THOUGH everywhere in Europe everyone talks about war, what virtually all Europeans are preparing for is not to fight a war but how as individuals, communities, and nations they can sit out a war if it comes.

The Germans are a special and very complicated case with which I shall try to deal in another article. I have some doubts about Tito. For though I did not go to Yugoslavia, I found that even in eastern Europe among his Slav brothers he was regarded with some misgivings—much as the German general staff regarded Mussolini—as capable of forcing their hand in adventures of his own.

But elsewhere, in the nations which would really matter in case of war, the conviction has settled in that they can do nothing about it, that they will be ruined if it occurs, that they cannot afford to arm, that in a conflict between the Russian infantry and the American air forces, it is not worth arming, and that—like the Swedes, the Swiss, and the Irish in the last war—their paramount interest is to survive, whatever their sympathies.

Obstacle To Peace

Gradually it became clear to me that we and we alone can allay theirs fears, and the panic which is a principal obstacle to the making of peace and to the whole project of European recovery.

In Paris I had several talks with men whom I do not feel free to identify except to say that what they think is highly significant. One of them assured me that in the event of war France would be in the "American camp." A little later, the conversation having veered to another subject, he told me that France could not endure war and that her only aim would have to be to insure the physical survival of the population and of her cities.

A few days later, a most influential colleague of his came to see me as I was leaving Paris to ask whether, as an American newspaperman, I could assure him that the United States would "defend the frontiers of France."

I replied that he ought to know better than to ask such a question. For he must know that the United States did not have the troops to man the Maginot Line, that the only way we could defend the frontiers of France was the way we are now defending them, by possessing the power to strike at the vital centers of Russia if the Red Army started to invade the west.

He then asked me whether this meant that we were not intending to fight a preventative war while we still had a monopoly of the atomic bomb. I asked him how long he thought it would take us to mount an offensive near enough to Russia to drop enough atomic bombs on enough places to be decisive. He thought it would certainly take several months. What then did he think the Russians would be doing in the meantime? They will be occupying Paris, he replied.

Military Statement

Were these not the answers to his questions. That the Russians can ruin Europe and that the Americans can ruin Russia, and that this is a military stalemate which only a criminal lunatic would attempt to upset?

These conversations reveal, I believe, the problem of the war psychosis which afflicts mankind, and what we can and should do about it.

All of Europe outside the Russian orbit is obsessed with a dual fear. The first is that we won't act decisively and effectively and before it is too late to stop the Red Army from advancing to the west; that the Red Army might advance to the west if Moscow believed we would not react promptly and adequately. The second fear is that we shall quarrel with the Russians over the Far East or the Middle East, and forget the war, wherever it starts, will be fought in Europe over the prostrate body of Europe.

They are afraid, in other words, that we won't defend them and at the same time that we shall drag them into a war.

The remedy, it seems to me, is almost self-evident. It is to find a way of stating clearly and unequivocally that a military advance beyond the armistice line would be an act of war; that the armistice is not within the jurisdiction of the Security Council and that therefore in a violation of the armistice the veto is not pertinent. Such a statement would not be a new commitment. But it would go a long way to allay the panic.

But that is not enough. It is necessary also to answer the fear that we could be provoked, incited, or tempted to use our tremendous offensive superiority. We should, therefore, declare—I think to the General Assembly before it adjourns—that we shall never use the atomic bomb or any other weapon except to retaliate against a deliberate, overt, and unmistakable act of military aggression by a first class power.

The time has come for the United States to transcend the cold war, and to clear the air for the European recovery program and the negotiation of treaties of peace for Germany and Austria and Japan.

We can, I believe, clear the air if we decide to employ our manifest military superiority constructively, to allay fear, to provide a sense of security, to disarm suspicion, and to bring the world and ourselves back to sanity and to peace.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Mostest Hoss Goes On

("Man O'War is dead at 30, a few weeks following his faithful groom, Bill Harbut. —news item)

"The mostest hoss" has made his run—
The final stretch is o'er;
A red flash in an autumn sun...
Immortal Man O' War!
"Big Red" streaks by the one last post—
The great one to the end...
And there's his groom with outstretched hands
To greet him 'round the bend.

II

Will Harbut, pal down through the years,
Went on a while ago....
The one who named him "mostest hoss'
With deep devotion's glow;
A few weeks back he heard the call
And shuffled o'er the hill...
And now "Big Red" who missed him so
Again joins Chucklin' Bill.

III

When Harbut took the old Mill road
And waved a wrinkled hand,
The "mostest hoss" looked after him
And did not understand...
"Old Red," his ears and eyes alert,
Stared off into the blue
And when his groom did not return
The "mostest hoss" went, too.

IV.

I see them now, the colt and man,
In some far golden fields
Where all are young and swift again
And vigor never yields...
Where all the equine great each romp—
Where richest clover blooms—
And all the dead-game jockeys ride
Watched by the faithful grooms.

V

Where all the fleetest hosses go
And those who idolize
A thorobred lives once again
With all the things they prize
Where all true lovers of the hoss
Come visiting each day
To watch the stalwarts of the turf
In greenest pastures play.

VI

I hear a whinnying that stirs
As "Big Red" gallops in
And Johren gives a welcome neigh
And Colin joins the din...
Where Sysonby and Hourless graze—
"The steeds that couldn't miss—"
Big Red and Bill together stand
And know reunion's bliss.

VII

Old Bill he saddles Red and smiles
"Dis am a lovely coss;
You jes go in and show 'em you
Is still the mostest hoss!"
Now music grand the bugle makes
The long years by him roar—
And Big Red hears the old time cry
"A breeze for Man O' War."

THE distilleries are closed and the Man o' Distinction looks pretty tight these days, too.

This Is Cat Week

By Truman Twill

T. Manville, the tomcat, is late with his essay (he probably doesn't need the 35 cents) so today's column will steal a march on him by discussing National Cat Week. This is it, Nov. 2 to Nov. 8.

The American Feline Society Inc. is behind it. The society's objective is to save America's cats. Its membership covers 39 states, Canada, Costa Rica and Switzerland. The organization's headquarters are in New York City.

As the friend and former proprietor of the only cat in existence that writes and talks like a human being, we're inclined to look skeptically at any organized effort to save or uplift cats. It's our observation that cats are able to take care of themselves.

In recent days, news services have carried several reports of cats traveling long distances to get where they wanted to be, which was always where they belonged, instead of some place they had been taken against their will by human beings. A tomcat named Mr. Black traveled from Stamford, Conn., to Atlanta, Ga., approximately 1,000 miles, without losing his way. A cat named Tabithy went from Rochester, N. Y., to her home 70 miles away to become a mother. Our own cat, T. Manville, has traveled far and wide over the United States and Canada and at present is residing in Florida.

Our advice to human beings who feel like doing something to help and uplift cats is to take up tatting instead; they'll get further. Cats do best when left alone, being unlike dogs in that respect. Dogs are helpless. They don't even have enough gumption to keep themselves clean although someone else is feeding them and galloping about on the other end of a leash to give them a modicum of exercise.

In this part of the country, anyone with a cat on a leash would be a candidate for the happy house. It would be ridiculous. It would be as ridiculous as it is for the American Feline Society to assume that cats need welfare workers to take care of them, coddling is at complete variance with feline nature, which is independent to the last bared claw and hateful hiss.

We're glad T. Manville wasn't on time with his essay. He might have chosen to write about the American Feline Society's uplift work and the result would have been unprintable. There's a cat with strong convictions about human beings who mess around in feline affairs—a conviction with the kind of contempt for human beings that comes from a close study of their weaknesses.

If the American Feline Society will forgive us, cats are very able to take care of themselves. After all, it's T. Manville, not this writer, that spent last summer in Canada and is going to spend this winter in Florida.

It's All in the Record

The State Department has published a complete record of America's foreign policy each year since 1861, except one year.

It missed 1869. Wilder Spaulding, chief of the division of publications, says no one knows why.

The foreign relations volumes include every stick of diplomatic correspondence that passes between this and other nations. It includes also the department's instructions to our embassies and consulates abroad and their replies.

The department attempts to keep up to date with its accounting of our foreign policy, but naturally the books can't be written while the policy is being made. Right now there's a lag of about 15 years. The book published in 1946 concerns the happenings of 1931. The one for 1932 should be coming out any day.

Though the books are simply a reprinting of the correspondence as found in the files of the State Department, there is a lot of work attached to their publication.

An entire volume was published on World War I with a great number of supplements. It took 12 volumes to record the Paris Peace conference of 1919. All of these are out, except one.

The most serious holdups result from objections from other governments.

PARIS STRIKE THREATENED

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 6 — Paris was threatened today with paralysis of all its public services—from electric power to garbage collection. Members of unions including power, gas, transport and municipal workers met on the job today to "decide democratically the way to affirm their active solidarity with the street cleaners' and water workers' strikes." All the unions are affiliated with the Communist-led national federation of labor. The strikers want more pay.

SEE RUSSIAN POLICY OF NON-COOPERATION

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 6—Russia apparently was committed today to a policy of non-cooperation with major American proposals she has failed to block by votes in the United Nations assembly.

The Soviet bloc already has invoked these tactics on two of Secretary of State Marshall's key proposals and has indicated the same course will be followed by a third American move for creation of a year-around "little assembly" of the 57 member nations.

After the assembly voted to establish a UN watch in the Balkans, Russia and Poland announced they would not serve on the investigating group. A similar attitude was taken yesterday when the Soviet Ukraine refused to participate in a UN commission for Korea.

Now, with the "little assembly" plan approaching a vote in the 57-nation political committee, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky again has argued that the plan is "illegal" and thus Russia can have no part of it.

The Russian maneuvers have posed the question of what effect the boycott policy will have on the future of the UN.

SCOUT TROOP MEETS

An organization meeting of a new Boy Scout group, Troop No. 39 of the Primitive Wesleyan church at 445 North Grand avenue, was held Monday night. Present was a group of 15 including George Power and Charles Smith, Scout commissioners, troop members and H. Flower, Scoutmaster.

Boycott Explained

Their testimony disclosed the boycott had been placed upon Yoder "for the good of his soul," because he had transferred from their congregation.

Several other church members, including Yoder's father, had been placed under the boycott for short periods because they associated with young Yoder, the defendants asserted.

Under questioning by plaintiff attorney Charles C. Jones, Deacon Wengerd declared he believed in religious freedom, but admitted the boycott against Yoder had resulted in his being treated as a social outcast in his neighborhood.

The ostracism, Deacon Wengerd testified, was necessary in order that Yoder could be induced to "amend his ways."

In addition to $40,000 damages, Yoder asks for a court order restraining the defendants from imposing a boycott against him which would deny him "the right to exercise his religious liberty or his right to carry on his business as guaranteed to him by the Constitution."

AMISH "MITE" IS STRICT REGULATION

By The United Press

WOOSTER, Nov. 6—The "mite" as defined by article 17 of the Dortrecht Confession of Faith, generally recognized and accepted by the conservative Mennonites in America:

"As regards the shunning of those who are expelled, we believe and confess that if anyone, whether it be through a wicked life or a perverse doctrine, is so far fallen as to be separated from God...He must also be shunned and avoided by all members of the church (particularly by those to whom his misdeeds are known) whether it be in eating or drinking or other such like social matters, in short, they are to have nothing to do with him; so that we may not become defiled by intercourse with him, and partakers of his sins; but that he may be made ashamed and thereby induced to amend his ways."

Proxy Marriage And Divorce Mill Stops

By The Associated Press

TIJUANA, Mex., Nov. 6—Tijuana's flourishing business in proxy marriages and divorces for American couples was shut down yesterday by Mayor Salvador Sierra-Vera.

At least 10 agencies whose sole business was obtaining marriage licenses and divorces for Americans by proxy were closed.

The closing order, Mayor Sierra-Vera said, was based on the assumption that "their activities are considered illegal and opposed to any principles and morals of our institutions."

Heavy Snowfall Hits Wide Area of U. S.

By The Associated Press

The coldest weather and heaviest snowfall of the season hit the northern and central Rocky Mountain regions and parts of the plains states today. Temperatures dipped to around the zero mark in Montana, Idaho and Wyoming and colder weather moved into the midwest. Falls of snow measuring from one to eight inches were on the ground from Salt Lake City to central South Dakota.

DEVELOP NEW RUST RESISTANT WHEAT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—The development of a new disease-resistant wheat designed to help protect the midwestern wheat belt from rust disease originating in the gulf states was announced today by the agriculture department.

The new variety has been given the name "Seabreeze."

In the past the rust disease has often developed in wheat fields in Louisiana and southern Texas. Winds from the gulf of Mexico carried rust spores northward to infest wheat in Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

The new kind does particularly well, the department said, in damp areas of the southern states where older varieties often developed the rust disease.

The department said the new strain resists loose smut and mildew as well as steam and leaf rust.

It is not as good for milling purposes, however, as the older varieties. But the department said poultrymen, particularly turkey raisers, are expected to favor the new wheat as a source of grain feed and for winter pasture.

Commercial plantings in several places in the south have shown yields of 20 to 30 bushels an acre. This is considerably more than the older varieties yield.

MANSFIELD MAN KILLED

Streaking through the sky is the Air Force's new P-84 "Thunderjet" fighter plane which, it has been announced, is now "fully qualified for operational service," following the successful completion of firing tests of its six guns at Farmingdale, Long Island, N. Y. The plane reportedly fired 70,000 rounds of ammunition, with more than 75 per cent of the rounds fired while the craft exceeded 500 miles an hour. This was a 50 per cent faster rate of fire than in guns used in World War II aircraft.

'NO HARM MEANT' TO IKE, SAYS BROTHER

By The Associated Press

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 6—A jocose remark which backfired had Attorney Edgar H. Eisenhower disavowing today any intent to harm his brother General Ike's chances for the presidency.

During a recent Army-Industry day at Fort Lewis, Sen. Harry P. Cain showed him a letter which came in an envelope with the phrasing "Eisenhower for President Club" on it.

"I laughed and said I'd organize an 'Against Eisenhower for President Club' with me as president and Stack (James Stack, Tacoman who was General Eisenhower's aide) for secretary," the attorney explained in an interview.

"It was just a casual remark, intended to be a joke, and I never thought of it again."

On Sunday night, however, a Washington, D. C., columnist called him long distance and asked him in all seriousness for an explanation.

"Imagine that," Eisenhower said.

"Say, I want to spike this thing before it gets serious."

The Tacoma Eisenhower doubts if his brother would want the presidency.

"He's a tired man and I don't think he should be called on for such a sacrifice," he said.

BIG FOUR SHOWDOWN ON PEACE FORECAST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — Mounting American demands for an early peace settlement in Europe seem certain today to force a United States-Russian showdown in the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting at London later this month.

Some authorities believe if the London conference fails to make definite progress on a German peace treaty and to complete an Austrian settlement, the last vestige of great power unity as symbolized in the conferences of the foreign ministers may be destroyed.

Formal American policy for the London meeting remains to be disclosed. But it appears certain that Secretary of State Marshall will give serious weight to proposals by former Secretary James F. Byrnes and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) that Russia's veto in the foreign ministers' council no longer be allowed to stand in the way of at least a partial European settlement.

Byrnes in a speech at Winston-Salem, N. C., last night, predicted in effect that the foreign minister system of peace making would fail to produce an early German settlement and proposed that the United States take the lead in calling a formal peace conference for early next year.

WOULD GIVE FARMERS GREATER DEDUCTIONS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Farmers would be allowed income tax deductions to cover the cost of fertilizing and other land improvements under legislation Senator Wherry (R-Neb) plans to introduce in congress next January.

Wherry's office disclosed that a bill for this purpose already has been drafted by Raymond R. Dickey, chief counsel of the senate small business committee, of which Wherry is chairman.

Present law as modified by administrative ruling provides that farmers may not deduct as a business expense in a particular tax period outlays for clearing brush and trees, buying and planting trees, leveling, conditioning or fertilizing land, drilling and equipping wells, developing irrigation canals and ditches, straightening creek beds or building concrete tanks, reservoirs and dams.

These items are classified as "capital investments" for which farmers may now deduct only a relatively small portion of the total cost each year, until that cost is finally amortized over a span of years equalling the life of the improvement.

GOVERNMENT HEADS QUIT IN ROMANIA

BUCHAREST, ROMANIA, Nov. 6—George Tatarescu, vice premier and foreign minister, and three other national liberal party members of Romania's cabinet resigned today under pressure from parliament.

Parliament voted no confidence in Tatarescu 187 to 5 as a result of testimony at the treason trial of opposition leader Juliu Maniu and 18 others. The prosecution in the trial claimed to have proved that defendants procured documents from Tatarescu's foreign affairs ministry.

Other cabinet members resigning were Finance Minister Alexandru Alexandrini, Public Works Minister George Vantu and Culture Minister Radu Rosculet.

The resignations of three liberal party undersecretaries of state also were accepted.

COMMUNIST AT TOP IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, Nov. 6—A Communist-engineered government crisis put Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, a former blacksmith, at the top of the heap today as Czechoslovakia's political strong man.

He wrested from the nation's coalition cabinet last night complete authority to rebuild the government of semi-autonomous Slovakia, where the crisis was born and where the predominantly conservative, anti-Communist Slovak Democrats are the majority party.

The cabinet decision was interpreted as a major victory in the Communists' open drive to gain complete control over the whole nation. An eight-party coalition now governs.

Tokyo Rose Wants To Come Home to America

By The Associated Press

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 6 — Tokyo Rose, the wartime radio Tokyo broadcaster who sank more fleets than America ever built, wants to go home to the United States.

The U. S. consulate here said she had applied for entry and her case "is being processed in the same way as thousands of others." The final decision, the consulate said, will be made in Washington.

The Los Angeles-born woman, whose maiden name was Iva Toguri, applied for entry as Iva D'Aquina, using the family name of her Portuguese husband. Held for a time by occupation authorities in Sugamo prison, she was released Oct. 25 1946, for lack of evidence.

EXTRA SESSION SEEN PROBABLE

Fuels Tax Amendment Voted Tuesday Disrupts State Finances.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6—State officials today pondered the necessity of a special session of the Ohio legislature because voters adopted a constitutional amendment earmarking tax revenues from gasoline, liquid fuels and auto licenses for highways and streets only.

Approval of the amendment diverted an estimated $15,000,000 of one-cent liquid fuel revenues from the general fund into highway department coffers; or, as some tax authorities asserted, repealed the liquid fuel tax statute altogether.

This shift of $15,000,000 may upset 1947-48 appropriations, which now include allocations to the highway department from the general fund.

Because appropriations were made in anticipation of liquid fuel tax revenues going into the general fund, finance officials believe the legislature may have to be recalled to revise the present allocations.

Finance Director H. B. Defenbacher and Rep. Paul H. Ballard (R-Jackson) chairman of the house finance committee, have indicated they consider a special session necessary and have begun a report for Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

Defenbacher said the liquid fuel tax originally was levied in 1933 to support a school foundation program, but these revenues were transferred to the general fund in 1939.

A supreme court test may also follow in attempts to determine whether the present statute has been repealed by the new amendment. It found repealed, the legislature probably would reenact the measure conforming with the amendment provisions.

Only liquid fuel tax revenues are affected by the newly-adopted amendment, effective January 1, because income from the three-cent gasoline tax and auto licenses, already has been earmarked for highway use.

The gasoline tax produces $45,000,000 annually, the auto-license tax, $28,000,000, and the liquid gas $15,000,000.

Proponents of the amendment said the liquid fuel tax had produced $171,000,000 since 1933, but only $43,460,000 had gone for highway use.

General fund allotments to the highway department for the current biennium amounted to $27,720,000, or $13,860,000 a year.

Defenbacher estimated that if the $15,000,000 was allocated by the highway department, under the present schedule for the three-cent gas tax, the highway department would get $8,505,000, municipalities, $2,835,000, counties, $2,457,000, and townships, $1,325,000.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

A Patient with Diabetes.

Every year more and more people are having annual physical check-ups and as a result more cases of diabetes are found. This is one of the great dividends paid by this excellent custom. Remember the sooner a diabetic patient is placed under the care of a doctor, the better his condition will be.

It is a very encouraging fact that these days the vast majority of diabetic patients can be up and about and carry on their usual activities in good health if they follow the treatment outlined by their physician.

For this reason, during recent months a number of life insurance companies have been making a drive against this disease. As a result, I have received many letters requesting an article on it in my column.

Many people wrongly suppose diabetes to be a disease of the kidneys. It is really caused by a lack of insulin, a powerful chemical normally manufactured and secreted by an organ known as the pancreas. Without insulin the body cannot properly utilize the carbohydrate or sugar of the diet.

Formerly the only way of controlling diabetes was to deprive the patient of those foods which his body could not handle. Since the great discovery that insulin could be manufactured in the laboratory, the lot of the patient with diabetes has been improved 100-fold.

Diet is still of great importance, but today it can be well balanced and nourishing because with this wonder drug, insulin, at our command, we can supply, by injections under the skin, exactly the material which the patient fails to make for himself.

When a patient with diabetes presents himself to the physician, it is suggested that he have a complete physical examination so that any infection present in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses or elsewhere in the body may be discovered and properly treated. In addition, an X-ray of the chest should be made, particularly if the patient has been exposed to tuberculosis.

It is also important to point out to those with diabetes that there is a tendency for this disease to run in families; hence, relatives of the patient also should have examinations made to determine if diabetes is present.

As a general rule, diagnosis of diabetes is not difficult. In diabetes, an increase over the normal amount of sugar is found in the urine, and the amount of sugar in the blood is also greater than normal. The patient may have such symptoms as increased appetite, increased thirst, loss of weight and strength, and sometimes itching of the skin.

In prescribing insulin, the first dose given should be small, so as to avoid any reaction which might occur due to too rapid lowering of the amount of sugar in the blood. After middle age, a form of insulin known as protamine zinc insulin may be used. Its effects last longer than those obtained from ordinary insulin. However, the ordinary insulin acts much more quickly, and is necessary in the younger patients. Frequent changes from one type of insulin to another are not advisable. When the same type is used, a definite routine can be set up, which the patient can easily follow.

Every patient with diabetes needs instructions from the physician and training in how to plan the diet and employ the insulin. The patient often can learn about the number of calories or heat units supplied by various foods and just what food parts are supplied by the different articles in the diet. The amount of protein foods, for example, to be employed would depend upon the patient's age and weight. The amount of fat to be eaten also depends to a great extent upon the patient's weight and this is outlined in the diet to which we refer.

I have outlined some facts concerning a diet for diabetics which would be helpful in following instructions of the physician. I shall be glad to send them to all that desire them, if they will write in, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Names will not be used. But don't forget to enclose the stamped envelope. Last week over 5,000 people asked for a list and only 3,500 enclosed a stamped envelope. Help us to help you!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. K.: Will you please tell me what causes noisy breathing?

Answer: There are many causes for noisy breathing, such as disturbance of the lungs, an enlarged thymus gland in the neck, enlarged tonsils or adenoids, or infection of the larynx or voice-box. Asthma and heart trouble may also cause noisy breathing.

Careful study by a physician is advisable in a case of this type to determine just what disorder is present.

PLUNGES TO DEATH

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—Miss Ruth A. Reed, daughter of Rept. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY), plunged to her death today from the roof of the hotel where she was staying. F. C. Minnick, manager of the Meridian Hill hotel, which is exclusively for women govern-ment workers, said Miss Reed apparently fell from the roof. The congressman's daughter, about 30 years of age, was employed in her father's office.

DR. HARDING TALKS AT EPWORTH CHURCH

Discusses "Emotional Problems of Living" at School.

Approximately 300 were present at Epworth Methodist church Wednesday night to hear Dr. George T. Harding of the Harding sanitarium at Worthington nephew of the late President Warren G. Harding. He spoke at the forum hour of the School of Religion and Life of Epworth church and Methodist churches of Marion county. His talk was on "Emotional Problems of Living," in line with his profession of psychiatrist and physician.

He began with relating some of his experiences as a child with his uncle as of interest to those who were associated with the late president here. On the subject of emotions, he began with the problems that come in early childhood, showing their relation to and definite bearing on adult life. It is important that young parents know how to deal with a child's emotions so that he may be strong in his emotional life in later years, he declared, then enlarged on the following thoughts.

"Laws of good psychology will result for both children and adults in an attitude of kindliness, freedom from jealousy, confidence in other people, and a freedom from sensitiviness and feeling sorry for himself. Failure to submit to authority in the home results in failure in the same way at school, and may finally bring the one involved into the hands of the law. Breakdowns of men in the army were not due primarily to battles but to lack of emotional balance in submission to authority.

"In adolescence, problems are faced in relation to the facts of life. By keeping in touch with character building groups and church organizations, the adolescent may achieve emotional stability in adjusting to marriage, resulting conflicts of emotions are caused often because of differences of family background of the couple."

DEFENSE MOVE EXPECTED TO DELAY ROBBERY TRIAL

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Nov. 6—A defense request for return of $11,805 in government bonds and cash was expected to delay opening today of the trial of Roy C. Blackburn, charged with robbing a B. F. Goodrich Co. paymaster of $31,000.

Attorneys for Blackburn said the bonds and cash were seized without a search warrant when the defendant was arrested in Columbus and were not part of the payroll.

Blackburn, 27-year-old father of four children, was attending law school at Ohio State university when taken into custody. He previously had been employed at the rubber company.

FIEMEN DEMONSTRATE FLAME-PROOF CLOTHING

By International News Service

PITTSBURGH — Safe, flameproof clothing may be a reality at last, it was made known recently in Pittsburgh.

Demonstrations by city firemen attempting to set the material ablaze with blow torches seemed proof enough to witnesses.

The new fabrics sell at about the same price as ordinary inflammable cloth, said President John A. Beattie, of the Treesdale Laboratories.

Manufactured of 40 per cent flameproof cotton fabric and 60 per cent fiberglass, the material was developed and manufactured by the Treesdale company at Mars, Pa., and the B. F. Goodrich company in Akron, O.

The Pittsburgh department of building inspection reported that samples of the material were repeatedly dry cleaned and washed without affecting its flame-proof qualities.

The flameproof cloth was the "pet" idea of the late Joe C. Trees, noted oilman.

Some Douglas fir forests average 50 to 60 thousand board feet to the acre and individual acres sometimes carry as much as half a million board feet.

3 Persons Hurt When Horse Runs Into Auto

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 6—Three persons were injured last night when a stray horse galloped into an automobile.

The horse, evidently unhurt, pointed himself in a new direction and continued on.

The occupants of the car, Louis E. Stough and his wife and three-year-old daughter, were given hospital treatment for facial bruises.

Automobiles have to be carried piecemeal on the backs of coolies over the mountains to reach Nepal, a state in India.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disordered kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of Pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

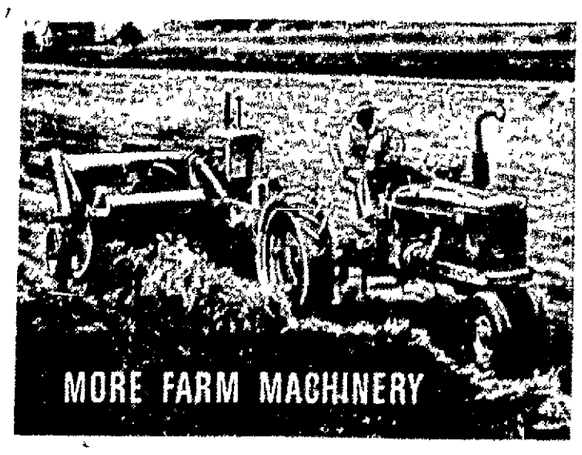
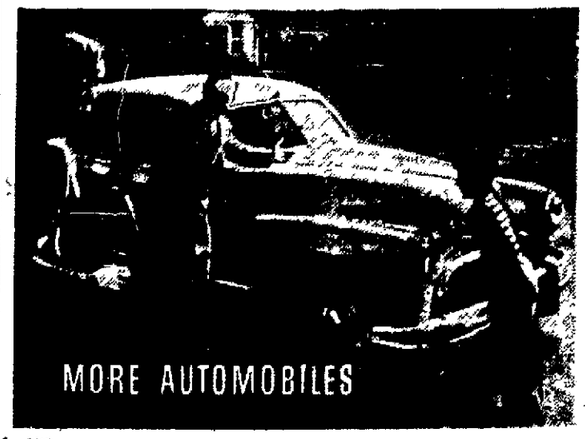
ONE BILLION DOLLARS

Means More Steel for the Things You Want





STEEL companies are pushing to complete the biggest program of expansion and improvement in the peacetime history of steel.

More than one billion dollars is being spent. More than 2,500,000 tons of new steelmaking equipment is being built.

Meanwhile steel production in 1947 is setting new records. Production in October exceeded average monthly output in the peak year of war production. The total tonnage for the year will establish a new peacetime record by a wide margin.

Demand still is great and some shortages still exist. But production is catching up as rapidly as possible. Every month there is more steel for the things you want.

GERMANY UNABLE TO FEED PEOPLE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 6 — Germany's population would have to be reduced by 30 million to become self-sufficient, says Dr. Otto F. C. Dibelius of Berlin, bishop of the German Evangelical church.

Speaking before more than 100 clergymen, the first prelate from the Russian-occupied zone of Germany to visit the United States declared yesterday:

"If 20 or 30 million Germans were allowed to emigrate—and I don't think any country in the world would allow such an immigration—the people remaining in Germany would have a chance to live off the production of German land.

"Or if German industry were allowed to develop to a higher degree than ever before, then, like the British, it could pay in exports for the imported necessities of living.

"The only other possibility is to let about 30 million Germans die so that the rest of the German population can survive on food production in the homeland."

Dr. Dibelius spoke with restraint on religious conditions in Soviet occupied territory, but conceded the Russians allowed the German church to hold services once a week.

In principle, he said, the Russians allow the church to give its children a couple of hours of religious instruction weekly but it must be carried on by pastors in Communist-controlled schools.

SEES LITTLE HOPE IN JUVENILE PANACEA

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6—Social workers were urged today not to place too much faith in the latest slogan of "punish the parents" in their fight against juvenile delinquency.

Judge Paul W. Alexander of Toledo's domestic relations and juvenile court, declared before 3,000 public and private welfare workers, attending the 57th annual meeting of the Ohio welfare conference, that while punishment of parents must be "rather effective in selected cases," it was "no panacea" and in most cases served only to revenge society.

Paul Cherney, of the federal security agency, added that "usually the 'bad' parents of today were the citizens of yesterday who needed help and did not get it."

In a talk prepared for delivery, Cherney said this raised the question of what is to be done about "tomorrow's parents, the children who need our help today."

Judge Alexander reported on a seven-year study of 1,027 cases, 500 involving arrests of parents, he said he found:

1—"No evidence that punishing parents has any effect whatsoever on the curbing of juvenile delinquency.

2—"No evidence that our practice (of stiff sentences to offending parents) had deterred other parents from contributing.

3—"It has not been necessary to punish these parents to protect society."

Judge Alexander asserted that experience had found that punishing parents for delinquency or neglect of their children actually had accomplished very little, although in some exceptions, where the parent was "refractory and resists the casework approach," punishment and the threat of punishment had brought cooperation.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 6—City Solicitor Thomas D. Hodge suggested today that a special session of the general assembly was "about all that will save" the city of Springfield from a 1947 deficit of $394,825.

City voters refused Tuesday to approve a proposed two-mill operating levy. A city-sponsored information campaign had stressed its low financial condition.

Hodge said he believed the city's "only hope" was for a reallocation of the state sales tax revenues, but pointed out that Gov. Thomas J. Herbert would have to call a special session to make the re-allocation.

NO TICKETS INCLUDED WITH DANCE INVITATIONS

Invitations which have been sent out for the 1936 Harding High school class alumni dance do not contain tickets, as was stated in a recent item in The Star. Persons planning to attend are to send their replies to Robert Minard, physical director at the Marion Y.M.C.A. and a member of the dance committee, and he in turn will make out a receipt which will be used as the admission ticket. Replies are to be in prior to Nov. 15.

Mrs. Dwight Ruby, chairman of the committee, reported that a total of 250 invitations were sent out, with 152 of these going to persons in Marion. A number of members of the class have not been contacted regarding the dance due to lack of addresses. A member not receiving an invitation is being asked to contact Mrs. Ruby at 8770 for full details.

The dance is scheduled to be held Nov. 18 in the ballroom at Hotel Harding.

MARION PARTY ON OHIO AIR FLIGHT

Fly to Cleveland and Back to Mansfield.

Mayor H. L. Dowler and four other Marion men were guests Wednesday of the Standard Oil Co on a trip by the company's "Atlas Sky Merchant" from Cleveland to Mansfield

Making the trip in addition to the mayor were E O Unespher, safety-service director; Robert T. Mason, Chamber of Commerce president, and J. P. Sharkey and C. H. Batchelder, division manager and assistant respectively of the Standard Oil company.

A company twin-engine Beechcraft picked up the Marion party at the local airport at 8 a m. Despite murky weather and poor visibility the flight schedule was maintained with "on the dot" punctuality Mayor Dowler reported

The party flew to Cleveland where they breakfasted at the municipal airport and observed operation of the large air terminal there prior to boarding the huge DC-4 for the Mansfield trip

After boarding the flying showroom, they flew over Cleveland nearly an hour before obtaining clearance to Mansfield, the mayor reported During this time, both Mayor Dowler and Mr. Unespher made calls to their homes in Marion via the two-way radio telephone system which provides communication with the ground through regular telephone exchanges.

The party arrived at the Mansfield port about noon, where luncheon was served prior to returning to Marion via the smaller plane.

Mayor Dowler reported favorably on the TWA service now in operation at Mansfield and which will be available at Marion as soon as the municipal airport here is completed He reported that Mansfield is being served by six flights daily Planes being used by TWA are the 21-passenger DC-3's, he observed. A flight from Pittsburgh arrived while the party was at the Mansfield port.

Farm Ponds Stocked With Bass, Bluegills

Sixty black bass and six hundred bluegills were released last Friday in each of the ponds on farms of Lewis A Anderson in Grand township, Perry Secrest in Pleasant township, and Wayne Houghton in Montgomery township. These fingerlings were secured by the Marion County Soil Conservation district from the fish and wildlife service of the U. S department of interior.

Farm pond management is a part of the complete soil and water conservation program on these farms which include the proper fertilization of each pond by using a complete commercial fertilizer to maintain sufficient plant growth in the water to feed the bluegills. The stocking of black bass and bluegills on a one to ten ratio helps maintain a proper balance of fish population in the pond All farm ponds are designed when constructed to have a minimum depth of seven feet in a portion of the pond area Farmers that now have ponds on their farms have found that besides food for the table, a pond will also provide water for livestock water supply for fire protection, recreation in the form of fishing and swimming

POLISH RED GOVERNMENT CONDUCTS INVESTIGATION

By The Associated Press

WARSAW, Nov 6—The Moscow-backed government intensified today its inquiry into the flight of Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, which it asserted was "actively aided" by an unnamed embassy, and indicated new arrests would be made shortly of persons suspected of helping the opposition leader escape.

Three of the group who fled with the Polish Peasant party leader Oct. 20 were declared officially to have been arrested after crossing the Czechoslovak frontier

They were Wincenty Bryja treasurer of the party, Mrs Maria Hulewicz, private secretary to Mikolajczyk, and Mieczslaw Dabrowski, who the government said was a collaborator of Mikolajczyk

U S Ambassador Stanton Griffis and British Ambassador Sir Donald St Clair Gainer both said they knew nothing of how Mikolajczyk's escape was effected

Brewing Co. Loses Right To Sell Stock

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6—State Securities Chief James F. Merkle today suspended the right of the Community Brewing Co. of Cincinnati to sell securities in Ohio.

Merkle gave three reasons:

The company's liabilities "exceed its assets at their fair market value"; the company "has failed to keep and to maintain adequate and correct books and records" and sale of securities by the company "would be on grossly unfair terms" to investors.

The securities chief said he would hold a hearing on the suspension in his office Nov. 12, if the firm desired to protest. The secretary of state's office, he said, cancelled the firm's articles of incorporation Oct. 15.

The program included a skit presented by Den 1 under the direction of Mrs. Carl Phillips, Den mother, and a style show by Den 2, directed by Mrs. Henry Rinnert. William Roberts presented the Weblos badge to Paul Rinnert who was graduated from the cub group to Troop 5 of the American Legion. Georgia Court Awards Calf Before It's Born

By The United Press

SAVANNAH, Ga. — Municipal Court Judge Columbus A. Alexander will have to wait for a bovine blessed event before a Solomon-like order of his can be obeyed.

Alexander settled a dispute between two Negroes over ownership of a cow by awarding one complainant a calf which had not even arrived.

Frances Bowen and Horace Wright, both claimed the same cow. The woman said she reared the cow for Horace for half interest, then bought his interest for $10. Horace said it wasn't so.

When the judge found that the cow was in "an interesting condition," he asked Frances if she'd be willing to give the calf to Horace. Frances said she would, except for one thing:

"Suppose," she asked, "the cow has twins?"

PENSION SOCIETY MEETS IN EAGLES LODGE HERE

Guest speaker at a meeting of the Old Age Pension society Friday in the Eagles hall was Rev. H. V. Falor, pastor of Oakland Evangelical United Brethren church. Singing of America opened the meeting and prayer was by Rev. Falor, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison Mrs. Eva Parish accompanied group singing. Rev. Falor's text was from the book of Luke, "That we might serve him without fear the rest of the days of our life." He declared that "Salvation is God's gift to man. The tendency of psychology is to minimize sin and call it 'a mistake,' but sin separates us from the love of God and we need deliverance." Hymns were played on a saw by Rev Falor, accompanied by Mrs Parish, and the choir sang a number Elijah Orr read some portions of Scripture, and Christian Ruth and William E. Sergent sang a duet. The Flash, publication of the Townsend organization was read by Arthur Hershner. It was reported that Mrs. Samuel Parr has been ill, and closing prayer was by Rev. Falor.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

If I had obeyed the base instinct within me, I would have told him the truth: "No, you don't deserve anything." For despite my pretense at his contribution, my interest was still not at his reaction to the news of Georges' return, to the prospective secret wedding of Georges and Olina at the Sag Harbour farmhouse under the guise of a house party Dicky Ver... would be giving for the Ver...stens.

But I smothered my resentment, and gave him a kindly answer.

"Never mind the thanks," I said. "The first thing to look at this thing sanely from now on. Everything now depends on Mary. If she wishes to attend this wedding—after all, she has been like a sister to Olina for years, and for publicity purposes she, as the star of the prospective play would be expected to be at the house party—then we shall bow to her wishes."

"But for heavens' sake, Noel," I adjured him, "do not read motives into Mary's decision, whatever it is, which are not there.

"I can assure you of one thing," I went on hastily, before he could speak. "Georges and his doings mean nothing at all to Mary. If you cannot get that through your head, then you are going to be in for many hard times, and you are going to make life miserable for Mary."

"No, I'm not," he said stoutly. "I stopped annoying her about my quirks long before she went to the sanitarium. I cannot control my thoughts, but at least I can keep her from guessing them."

There was so much sincerity in his face and voice, that impulsively I leaned forward and kissed him—he had not yet risen from his knees.

"That is all that is necessary now, dear boy," I told him. "After awhile you will realize how utterly absurd most of your thoughts are. But just now, I must ask you to go back to your room. Olina must not find you here."

"Oh, of course not!" he said, scrambling to his feet.

Then he bent and kissed me tenderly.

"Thank you for everything, Aunt Madge," he said, and went swiftly out of the room, while, womanlike, I began to blame myself for the harshness I had shown him.

Olina's entrance, only a minute after he had left—I was thinkful that there was no trace of his presence; he had not even lighted a cigaret while he was talking to me — effectually diverted my thoughts from Noel and all his vagaries. Her face bore "the light that never was on land or sea," and her feet did not appear to touch the ground. I thought fantastically, as she came toward me.

"Oh, Aunt Madge I am so happy!" she exclaimed. "Just think,—not only to see Georges again after all this long despairing vigil, but to be married to him! That is what he asks me; to marry him immediately at Sag Harbor, where he is to be hidden for awhile. That will be thrilling, to be shut up in that underground dungeon with him!"

I stared at her in astonishment.

"Didn't Georges tell you of the plans that are being made for a pretty family wedding for you?" I asked.

"A pretty family wedding?" she repeated. "Why, how can that be? Georges said—"

"Georges unmistakably took so much time to write you an adequate love letter," I said teasingly, while she flushed to the roots of her hair, "that he had no chance to tell you of the plan of my father has made for you. Sit down, and try to keep calm."

She sat down opposite me, fixed her great, lustrous eyes on my face and listened tensely while I went over again the plan my father made.

When I had finished, she put her hands together as a child might do in the presence of some long-wished-for toy.

"How perfectly wonderful!" she cried. "Just the people I love. I wish Madam Graham could be there, but I suppose she can't."

"No," I said. "She cannot possibly be there, and I am afraid Noel and Mary will be absent also."

Evangelists Rev. and Mrs. George Poole, above, of Cincinnati will be the evangelists for a Young People's convention at First Wesleyan Methodist church on Silver street this weekend. They will sing, with piano accordion accompaniment by Mrs. Poole, and will preach alternately at the services which will begin Friday at 7:30 p. m. and continue through Sunday night.

NEW X-RAY TUBE TO AID DENTISTS

By The United Press

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., Nov. 6—Development of a new, long-lasting X-ray tube designed to aid dentists in the diagnosis of tooth ailment was announced here today.

The tube can take a 70,000-volt beating and yet last for 20 years, scientists of Westinghouse Electric Corp., said. It is one of the smallest X-ray tubes ever manufactured, no larger than a power tube in a home radio set.

The new tube is being made available after having operated steadily on test for 1,000 hours, the equivalent of about two years of normal usage in a dentist's office, according to Joseph Lempert, Westinghouse electronics engineer.

The tube was the result of a clue found in German X-ray equipment, seized during the war. Its design also minimizes stray radiation, or bullets, that sometimes blur X-ray films, and cause retakes to be necessary.

Lempert explained that the key departure in the new design is a copper hood surrounding the tube's anode, a tungsten target which electrons smash into at a 90,000-miles-a-second clip, to produce the X-rays. These electrons travel at about half the speed of light.

Food for Slim Budgets

COUNTRY MINESTRONE . . . Good eating at low cost . . .

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

It's a little hard to plan really hearty, stick-to-the-ribs food for the cold days in an economical fashion. But here are a few suggestions which use little or no meat and will surely satisfy your family at no great cost.

Country Minestrone

¾ pound ground beef, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons butter or vitaminized margarine, ½ cup chopped onion, 4 cups tomato juice or canned tomatoes, 2 cups canned peas, ½ cup broken macaroni.

Season ground beef with salt and pepper, and form into small balls about an inch in diameter. Brown lightly in butter or margarine Combine remaining ingredients with meat in saucepan, cover and simmer until macaroni is tender. Taste, and season with additional salt and pepper if desired.

Western Soup Special

½ cup ripe olives, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/3 cup flour, 2 tablespoons chopped onions, 2 tablespoons chopped tomato, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon steak sauce, 2 cups water, 1½ cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 bouillon cube, ½ cup grated carrot.

Slice olives from pits. Melt butter, add flour and cook over low heat until flour is brown. Saute onion, tomato and green pepper in margarine. Add steak sauce and blend. Combine water, milk and salt in double boiler. Add browned flour and onion mixture, bouillon cube and carrots Cook over hot water for about 45 minuets or until carrots are tender. Add olives just before serving.

Chicken Curry with Raisins

1—4-pound fowl, drawn weight, 2½ cups water, 2 large sprigs parsley, 2 large sprigs celery leaves, 1 small onion, cut in half, bit of bay leaf, 2 teaspoons salt

Cut fowl in pieces. Place on rack in Dutch oven and add remaining ingredients. Cover tightly and simmer until tender—about 1½ to 2 hours. Replenish water if necessary. Remove from heat, take out pieces of chicken. Skim fat from broth. Strain broth. Make a sauce as follows:

1/3 cup of chicken fat, 1/3 cup flour, 2 teaspoons curry powder, 3 cups chicken broth, ¾ teaspoon kitchen bouquet, salt to taste, ½ cup seedless raisins.

Place fat in two-quart saucepan. Combine flour and curry powder and stir into fat. Add chicken broth and kitchen bouquet. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly until thick Season to taste with salt. Add raisins and large pieces of chicken cut from bone Let stand over low heat until chicken is thoroughly hot Serve with dry rice and chutney.

AUXILIARY MEETS WITH MRS. COOKSTON

The Catherine Woods auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church was entertained Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. L. E. Cookston at 292 Elm street. Mrs. Glenmore Hawkins, leader, opened the meeting by reading an article on the new budget of the Presbyterian church, which was followed with prayer. Two new members were welcomed into the auxiliary, Miss Maud Alter and Miss Ruth Mills.

The annual stewardship program was presented with Mrs. Charles J. Smith in charge. A talk on "Stewardship of Money" was given by Mrs. Smith, and a letter of thanks from the Tucson Indian Training school at Tucson, Ariz., for sheets sent them recently by the auxiliary was read by Miss Bess Snider. The letter also told of a number of recent activities of the school. Mrs. Smith and Miss Mary T. Smith gave a playlet entitled "The Party Dress."

The mite box presentation service was held before an altar decorated in white, centered with an open Bible and lighted by candles. As each member placed her mite box on the altar, she read an article on "Stewardship of the Tithe." A social hour followed the meeting.

St. Mary Set for Final Game Tomorrow; Harding To Visit Sandusky

Irish To Entertain Mt. Gilead Indians In Mid-State League Game.

The St. Mary football team makes its third and final appearance at home tomorrow night when the Irish entertain the Mt. Gilead Indians in a Mid-State game that can mean the championship to the Irish.

Mt. Gilead luck in the league to date has been low—they've lost their three league encounters and comparative scores give the Irish an overwhelming four-touchdown margin. But the Indians will be whooping for a win to pull themselves up to a tie with Richwood.

Indian hopes for whoopee rest on the passing of Captain Nelson Campbell who has chucked three for touchdowns in the last five Indian games. Campbell has run over for three more in games this season. He was elected All-Mid-State back and Mt. Gilead's most valuable player last year and is a strong contender for the award again this season along with his mate at halfback, Jack Lancaster.

Lancaster is the Indian breakaway runner and has dashed to three tallies this season.

Tackle Bill Decker and guard Charles Crawford are mainstays of the Indian line. Crawford was named All-Mid-State guard last year. Ends Ray Roller and Gay Klingle have guarded the Indian flanks from surprise attacks this season.

Eleven lettermen in all stomp with the Indians this year. They have helped Mt. Gilead improve their 2-6-1 1946 record to a 4-4-0 standing to date this season.

Irish Coach Gene Fetter expects to start the same team that drubbed Sunbury, 25-6, last week with the exception of Joe Maniaci at right guard to replace John Granger. Maniaci played an outstanding game against the Sunbury Tigers and has been a stone wall in the Irish line all season. Joe is St. Mary's only All-Mid-State gridder.

Ohio Northern To Stick With Ohio Conference

By The Associated Press

ADA, O., Nov. 6—Ohio Northern university has "no intention or desire to leave the Ohio conference for any newly formed league," says Clyde Lamb, Polar Bear athletic director and head coach.

Gilbert D. Dodds, Taylor (Ind.) college athletic director and temporary chairman of a proposed "small colleges" conference, Tuesday mentioned Ohio Northern among eight schools he said had agreed to a tentative organization during a meeting in Lima, O.

Dodds said other interested athletic officials hoped to adopt a constitution on Monday at Van Wert, O.

Six other colleges said to favor the new league are: Defiance, Rio Grande and Cedarville, all of Ohio, and Huntington, and Tri-State of Indiana. Dodds said Detroit Tech also was invited to the first meeting but did not attend.

MAY FORM NEW LOOP

By The Associated Press

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 6—A formal meeting for possible organization of a class C professional baseball league was called for Nov. 19 yesterday after an informal discussion by representatives from four cities.

Robert P. Caldwell of Ashland, Ky., chosen temporary chairman, said representatives were present from Ashland, Huntington, Logan and Portsmouth, O. Caldwell was president of the old Mountain State league which was disbanded after the 1942 season.

CANADIAN WINS 3 HORSE SHOW EVENTS

W. R. Ballard Exhibits Versatility in Equine World Series.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—If W. R. Ballard of Weston, Ont., Canada, isn't the most versatile exhibitor at the National Horse Show, his efforts during the first two days of the equine world series at Madison Square Garden certainly give him a strong claim to the title.

Ballard, a 33-year-old second lieutenant in the Canadian Army, is competing in the national for the first time, not only as a member of Canada's military jumping team but also a civilian exhibitor.

After having ridden Reject to victory in the military jumping event on opening night, Ballard returned with the same chestnut gelding last night and again outclassed Chamorro, the champion jumper of the 1946 show but a disappointing member of the Canadian forces this year.

Then in the role of civilian, Ballard sent his Poppy, an aged chestnut mare, into the $1,000 open jumping event staged for the benefit of the olympic equestrian team and the mare grabbed first money with Patty Farrel in the saddle.

Poppy's triumph gave her seven points toward the open jumper championship and left her in third place at the end of three of the ten events which figure in the title. Two horses from the Ravenna, Ohio, stables of Sterling Smith hold first and second places. Smith's Happy Landing placed third last night and, with a first on opening night, now has nine points. In second place, with eight, is Smith's Sun Beau, first on Tuesday and fourth last night.

Turnesa Steals Show In North-South Open

By The Associated Press

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 6—What shaped up as a free-for-all scramble for the North and South Open golf top honors after a tight first round, threatened today to become a one-man show, thanks to Jimmy Turnesa.

Jimmy, an unattached professional from Ulmsford, N. Y., scored the 6,879-yard No. 2 course with a 32-34—66 second round yesterday to gain the 36-hole lead at 137 in this $7,500 event with a top price of $1,500.

Still a possibility at 144 was Denny Shute of Akron, O. The amateur lead was held by Gene Dahlbender of Atlanta, at 148, despite a fat second round 77. He was a stroke ahead of Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., and Dick Chapman of Pinehurst.

Want To Know Who'll Manage Bums? So Does Rickey

By The Associated Press

BROOKLYN, Nov. 6 — So you want to know who will manage the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1948? Well, so does Branch Rickey—he says.

The Dodger president returned to the Brooklyn offices and disclosed he had spent three days on a private hunting and fishing expedition with Leo Durocher near Rickey's winter home in Chestertown, Md.

They hunted birds. They also talked baseball "generally and specifically." And yet the brain of Montague street said yesterday "At this time I have no idea who my manager will be."

"I phoned Leo Sunday night and asked him to spend a few days with me," Rickey said. "I told him not to tell anybody so we could talk with more leisure and less interruptions."

Replying to barried reporters who told him frankly that they were getting bored with having to ask the same questions and receiving the same vague answers, Rickey answered:

"I wish I could give you a definite answer, but I honestly can't" he said. "All I can tell you is that I will have a manager by March 1. Otherwise I cannot answer any questions pertaining to the Brooklyn managerial situation."

"Some of you might think I'm fencing, that I'm trying to create an air of mystery about this situation so that the Brooklyn club can reap a great deal of publicity," he added. "But that is the farthest from the truth. I'm giving you all the information that I can under the circumstances."

Rickey's reluctance to give direct answers did not stop reporters from hurling questions at the bushy-browed major domo of Flatbush.

Did he discuss the managerial situation with Durocher? "No comment."

Has he given Durocher his release so he could negotiate with another club?

"I prefer not to answer that question."

Did Burt Shotton, who led the Dodgers to a pennant in 1947, show an inclination to return in '48?

"I didn't ask him."

Has he discussed any player deals with Durocher?

"Yes, but I also discussed them with Shotton, Arthur Mann, my assistant, my coaches, and anybody I figured could help me make the right deals."

Rickey disclosed that two deals with other clubs are "on the fire."

Would he meet with Durocher in the near future?

"We have no further conferences arranged."

Rickey however, didn't hesitate to reply to the query whether he still felt the way about Durocher as he did when Leo was suspended. At that time Rickey had exclaimed "I'd go to hell for Leo."

"Yes, nothing has arisen since to make me change my feelings. Sometimes a man reveals his genuine feelings when making an impulsive remark. It represented exactly how I felt then and I still feel that way."

ARMY COACH EARL BLAIK, sans a good forward passer, probably will bank on these two fleet-footed backs for his ground offensive against Notre Dame. They are Elwyn Rowan (33) and Bobby Stuart (42).

OHIO STATE LINE HIT BY INJURIES

Tackle Fazio, Ends Crane and Morrison Sidelined.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6—Additional injuries hit the Ohio State Buckeyes' line today, but Coach Wes Fesler also found a brighter side, too, in the probable return of halfbacks Bob Brugge and Dean Sensanbaugher for Saturday's Big Nine game with invading Northwestern.

Tackle Fazio of Marion, potential starter, broke a thumb yesterday as the Bucks hammered through their second hard offensive scrimmage and end Jimmy Crane went on the shelf from a chip fracture of a small bone in his back. Then Curly Morrison, a reserve end, showed up with a strained knee muscle.

Crane was injured two weeks ago, but only yesterday became seriously hampered.

Both Brugge and Sensanbaugher worked throughout the scrimmage without further injury, but Fesler said he still intends to start left half Jim Clark, right half Alex Verdova, fullback Ollie Cline, and quarterback Pandel Savic.

Jack Jennings also was named probable starter for Fazio, who had moved to a first string berth on his performance against Indiana. Dick Shannon, shifted from end to tackle, still is not ready for a starting spot.

Dick O'Hanlon, 231-pound sophomore who moved up behind tackle Jack Wilson alternated on the first string, but Wilson will start.

JAMES WREN (ZACK) TAYLOR, new manager of the St. Louis Browns, signed a one-year contract yesterday. Terms of the contract were not disclosed but it is believed Taylor would receive considerable less than the reported $20,000 to $25,000 paid ousted Muddy Ruel. Since Ruel's contract had a year to run, it appeared he would be paid more for not managing the club than Taylor will get for doing the job.

COLUMBIA DENIES RUMOR

By International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Persistent rumors that Army did not schedule Columbia next season because the Lions upset the Cadets 21-20 this season were vigorously denied today by Columbia spokesmen. A Columbia official pointed out that the Army-Columbia game was not an established series and that games between the two schools were scheduled "off and on."

TROPHIES AWARDED BY DOUBLE-M LOOP

LaRue and Caledonia Tie for Top Spot.

Duplicate trophies were awarded to first place Caledonia and LaRue six-man football teams at a Double M league meeting at Harding High school yesterday. Both schols finished the season undefeated and battled to a tie game in Harding stadium Oct. 11.

Edison was added to the league by vote of the league members, who hope to extend the league to eight teams.

Don Burton, LaRue coach, was elected president, and Orin McGlone of Caledonia was named secretary-treasurer.

Burton announced that a meeting to arrange the 1948 grid schedule will be held Jan. 1.

Representatives from all league schools — coaches and superintendents from Chesterville, Johnsville, Claridon, Caledonia, Prospect, LaRue and Edison — attended the meeting.

MIAMI GRIDDERS CRIPPLED

OXFORD — Miami's Redskins were a somewhat crippled lot today as they practiced for Saturday's game against high-scoring Dayton. Halfbacks Art Parseghian and Paul Shoults, who were not in uniform for the Bradley game, may not start against Dayton, Coach Sid Gilman said. Also banged up were fullback Paul Dellerba, end Hal Paul and guard Nick Vracin.

SEEKS BASKETBALL GAMES

A Dayton class AA basketball team—the Carl's Body Shop quintet coached by Joe Fisher — is seeking opponents from the Marion area. Coach Fisher may be reached at 5 South Perry street, Dayton.

Win Green Replaced As Boston Sox Trainer

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Nov. 6—Win Green said today he had been replaced as trainer of the Boston Red Sox by Ed Froelich, formerly of the New York Yankees.

Froelich now is trainer of the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey league.

Green said he had asked general manager Joe Cronin concerning rumors that he would be replaced by Froelich, and Cronin confirmed them, offering Green a minor league job with the Sox.

Green said he replied, "I'm too old to start riding buses again." He had been Red Sox trainer since 1938.

TWO COACHES RESIGN

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5 — Greg Conly has resigned as head football coach at Cleveland East High school, effective at the end of the current season, Principal P. M. Watson reported today. Officials of suburban Garfield Heights High school also announced the resignation of Head Coach Jack Wilson, named clerk-treasurer of the district board of education.

Prexies To Play Final Away-Game With Victory-Shy Blue Streaks.

The Harding Presidents play their final away-game of the season tomorrow night when they meet the victory-shy Sandusky Blue Streaks in what should be a breather.

Sandusky hopes for an upset win over the Presidents Friday night rest on the power running of fullback Tom LaRose and on aerials from quarterback Jim Blough to end George Kreimes.

Blough tossed a touchdown pass to Kreimes in the Toledo DeVilbiss 7-7 tie game last week, and that rates headlines up in Sandusky. The Blue Streaks have made only three TD's all season.

LaRose, a 175-pound senior, nearly set up a second Sandusky touchdown in that game when he bulled his way through the line and raced into the clear for a 25-yard gain deep into DeVilbiss territory, but a 15-yard penalty killed the Blue Streak attack.

Kreimes started the season as an end, then switched to the backfield, but returned to the end position last week to replace regular end Harry Morrow, who was out with a shotgun wound in the leg. Morrow, incidentally, wasn't caught swiping apples; he was accidentally shot by a buddy while the two boys were out target shooting the day of the game. He'll be out of Friday night's fray with the Prexies.

The Blue Streaks looked better against the big Toledo squad than they have all season, and it is just possible that they'll catch on fire Friday night. Last year, a victory-shy-in-seven-games Sandusky outfit streaked into town and took the Prexies, 27-0, to score their first win of the season.

The Prexies will be trying for win number seven and the Blue Streaks for their first.

Jack Hoffman, injured at Ashland, will not be ready to go tomorrow, said Prexy Coach Pete Howison. He has been out with the squad this week, but a leg injury and a bursted ear drum will probably keep him sidelined until the closer with Fremont Ross Nov. 14.

Square Biscuits, Yet!

I see by a neighboring paper, that the round biscuit is on the way out. Yes, sir, home-management specialists have found that the square biscuit lends itself to assembly-line production and easy storage better than those customary ovals.

Well, we're all for progress, but that's one new idea we just don't cotton to. A round biscuit, spread nicely amidships with snappy country cheese, looks like a biscuit! And accompanied by a mellow glass of beer, it's a combination that you can't improve on!

So at the risk of being called old-fashioned, I'm voting for round biscuits, that fit a hungry man's mouth like no square imitation ever will . . . and for American beer served in the good old-fashioned way, in tall, cool mugs or ordinary glasses, with frosty sides and bubbles winking at the brim!

Think I'll step out to the kitchen for a snack right now!

Girl Wrestlers Tonight

Dot Dotson and June Byers, a couple of capable girl wrestlers will meet tonight at the Marion Armory in one of the ninety minute matches. It has been a long time since the girls have been to Marion and the above two are sure to furnish the fans with some fireworks as both girls have been wrestling for the past four or five years. Paul Orth and Dutch Schultz have been matched for the other main event and this match has all the earmarks of a grudge bout for its an aftermath of their tag team match last Thursday. The Barlow Boys, aged five and seven, will wrestle the ten minute prelim starting at 8:30. If you haven't made your reservations call 2745 after six for the best seats.—Adv.

Lujack Set To Carry Irish Load Against Army

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 6—Minus the days of the famed George (Gipper) Gipp will a single player carry Notre Dame's fate as much as talented Johnny Lujack when the book is slammed on the dramatic Irish-Army football rivalry here Saturday.

Lujack is groomed to do more than he has ever done before in his All-America career which started against this same Army team in 1943. Widely advertised as the "brain" and the "arm" of the current unbeaten Irish in their march to five straight victories, Lujack now is primed to break and gallop against the Black Knights of the Hudson.

It became clear in a rousing scrimmage yesterday that, if Notre Dame's "straight football" formula fails, Lujack will chase the passes of his illustrious quarterback understudy, Frank Tripucka, or otherwise carry the ball in some new tricks Coach Frank Leahy has cooked up for Army's invasion.

All of which recalls the 1920 contest of this classic series when Gipp played the greatest game of his short, but meteoric career, by kicking, passing, kicking and running Notre Dame to a 27 to 17 triumph over Army.

Coach Leahy has Lujack marked down for a 60-minute performance. First off, he'll be in on defense at safety at all times. Then, when he isn't calling signals and unwinding his accurate right arm with passes, he'll be cavorting at left halfback and providing an aerial target for relief quarterback Tripucka.

THE FIRST TIME I EVER DID THAT!
JOHNNY LUJACK,
BEST KNOWN AS NOTRE DAME'S GREAT FORWARD PASSER IS ALSO ONE OF THEIR MOST DANGEROUS RUNNING TARGETS
LUJACK GAVE A SAMPLE OF HIS RUNNING ABILITY IN THE NAVY GAME. ONE OF HIS JAUNTS WAS A 67-YARDER BUT IT WENT FOR NAUGHT WHEN HE WAS SURPRISED FROM BEHIND
DESPITE JOHNNY'S SENSATIONAL PASSING, HE MUST SHARE HONORS WITH THE LESS PUBLICIZED FRANK TRIPUCKA WHO DOES AN EQUALLY GOOD JOB IN LUJACK'S ABSENCE

COUNTY SCHOOL SEAT REMAINS IN DOUBT

Returns from Out of County To Settle Issue.

The contest for one of the two seats on the Marion county board of education voted on Tuesday is still unsettled as four school districts outside Marion county have still to file returns with the board of elections.

Two candidates, seek to succeed W. S. Guthrie of near LaRue whose term expires this year. Emmett L. Trout of near Claridon, the other member whose current term is expiring and who is a candidate for reelection has apparently been returned to the board according to returns already in.

However, Harold Hodson of LaRue and O. E. Hamilton of north of Marion both seeking election to the county board are only 17 votes apart with the four districts yet to report. Hodson has 1,542 votes to Hamilton's 1,525. Trout with 1,735 is assured of his reelection.

The election board expects to receive returns from the four districts, one each in Delaware and Crawford counties and two in Morrow county late today.

Election of board members in the various school districts in Marion county resulted as follows:

Caledonia—Otto M. Mills, Richard Flowers and Norris D. Hill. Claridon—R. M. Hough and C. L. Kline. Grand Prairie — Wallace Linn and E. Shelton. Green Camp —Beaver Bricker, George W. Reynolds, Robert C. Uncapher.

WHEEL SPINS AGAIN, PICKS GRID WINNERS

Notre Dame, Wisconsin, Michigan, Purdue Selected.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 6—Another whirl of the football wheel:

Notre Dame 21 Army 7—The undefeated Irish are ready to shoot the works, if necessary, to knock off their arch-rival impressively as the hard-fought series between the two teams temporarily ends. Both teams will be pitched for their greatest effort of the season but there is no evidence of a complete runaway even if the Irish do release their pent up fury . . . . . .

Wisconsin 20 Iowa 13—The Badgers have visions of the Big Nine title after smashing Purdue, Northwestern and tying Indiana.

Michigan 21 Indiana 6—The Wolverines, after tough struggles against Minnesota and Illinois on successive weekends, will have to watch. George Taliaferro, the Hoosiers' triple threater.

Purdue 14 Minnesota 13—Unless the Gophers find enough speed to fashion an effective defense against Bob De Moss' passing and Harry Szulborski's running, they'll have to give in.

Northwestern 13 Ohio State 7—The return of injured halfback Frank Aschenbrenner should add the needed touch for Northwestern to grab this decision . . . . But if the Wildcats fail to hang on to the ball, they may again fall victim through fumbles which figured in their 29-0 lashing by Wisconsin.

Illinois 35 Western Michigan 7—The Illini need this "breather" to regroup after losing to Purdue and Michigan in succession.

COUPLE FOUND SLAIN

By The Associated Press

BECKLEY, W. Va., Nov. 6—Police said today the wife of a Beckley dentist and a local business man, whose bodies were found at the foot of an embankment on a lonely road, were murdered, but that they were without concrete clues in the slayings. The victims were E. Ray Bailey, about 50, executive of a hardware and supply company, and Mrs. Nellie Mae Rand, 39, mother of two daughters and wife of Dr. K. K. Rand.

KRANER IS NAMED Y'S MEN DIRECTOR

John Smith Chosen as Committee Chairman.

Robert Kraner was appointed a member of the Y's Men's board of directors and John Smith was named chairman of the relations committee at a Y's Men's business meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night.

James Creager announced the acquisition of a reconditioned record player to replace the old juke box for Club Co-ed and said that 270 boys and girls had joined the club since the opening of the 1948 membership drive Oct. 1.

Harold Henry reported on the inter-club council meeting Oct. 31 and at his suggestion, the club voted to contribute $20 to help defray expenses of the annual football banquet. The club also decided to man the Salvation Army kettles on the Saturday preceding Christmas.

A letter was read from Mrs. C. W. Smoot, chairman of the Community Service to Camps and Services, thanking the Y's Men for their monetary gift to the Christmas on the High Seas fund.

President Richard Myers said all service clubs had been asked to help push the Community Fund Foundation over the top. He announced that within the next few days each Y's Man would receive approximately 10 names to solicit for fund donations.

A motion was passed that the annual Christmas party for Children's Home be held again this year and the meeting closed with a discussion of new projects to be undertaken by the club.

Roving Reports

by Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — THE product of modern civilization I feel most sorry for is the metropolitan child—the kid who grows up in big city.

Even bubble gum doesn't make up for the lost pleasures of a boyhood spent in crowded places where asphalt has smothered the grass and stone canyons condense the broad sky.

Life in the country or a small town enables a child to grow slowly from elementary savagery into the pattern of civilized man, but it allows him more freedom in the process. And it holds wonder in him longer, the wonder that keeps him fresh and young in heart.

A BOY RAISED in the hinterland gets to know something about nature, man's mother in the springtime of the world and still the great nourisher of his spirit. He is educated not only by books but by elemental and eternal things—wind and rain, the growth of trees, the ways of wild animals and the heipless habits of the tame.

He never falls victim to the chief crime of modern city life, which is—to become a stranger to the land. He may grow up somewhat shy and reserved, but he has an interior self-reliance that makes up for it.

The main thing is he has time in such an atmosphere to have fun in the free way a boy needs—to roam and build up his wind, legs and nerves against the tasks that lie ahead. He can do more things he wants in the way he wants to, and he learns by his own trial-and-error method, which is the best way. You don't really grow wise enough to learn from other people's mistakes until you are older—if you ever do.

IN THE CITY, in the other hand, a boy hears the parental "No, no no!" from birth. He lives in a more dangerous world, where accidental death is always near. He plays in narrow confined spaces, and his play is as supervised as his studies. There is little opportunity for him to escape into that dragon-haunted dream world of pirates and castles and cowboys and Indians which grown-ups don't understand.

So more and more he is drawn into the mysterious and terrible adult world, sickly intoxicating and unhealthily exciting for his half-formed mind. Like island natives first visited by white traders, he is more fascinated by the vices of the grownups than their virtues. He sees them through a mixed fog of childish hero-worship and puritan disdain.

HE LIVES IN crowded small apartments and dawdles over his arithmetic home-work at night because it is more interesting to hear the neighbors quarreling beyond the thin plaster walls. He lacks the privacy growing children crave. When he breaks the rules that hedge him in, he can get into more serious trouble on the streets than a country boy does who flees to the woods, where snakes may be poisonous but at least are never human in form.

The big city kid is socially more sure of himself, but his toughness is likely to be only exterior and his wisecracks cover frustration and uncertainty.

They say war is the supreme test of any nation and calls forth the finest men! Well, in Germany I once asked an American infantry commander, veteran of many battles, who made his best soldiers.

"I've had lots of fine city kids," he said. "But the farm boys generally are best. They stand up better under strain."

I think the difference lies in the way they grew up.

Capital Capers

By Frederick Othman

WASHINGTON — RALPH R. GRAICHEN is a precise little man with a pink dome, a white mustache, and the distinction of putting a cuss word into the official federal archives.

He said he couldn't help himself. He was so surprised when Howard Hughes snagged a $22,000,000 contract to build photo planes over the protests of himself and the other air force engineers at Wright Field that he scrawled a note in pencil upon the document confirming the deal.

"What does it say?" asked Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the subcommittee resuming the inquiry into Hughes' fiscal relationships with his Uncle Sam.

"It says," said Graichen, "'I'll be damned'."

"And who wrote it?" asked the senator.

"Why, it's my handwriting," Graichen replied. "I wrote it."

"That's right," Graichen snapped, inhaling a lungful of cigaret smoke.

GRAICHEN IS A veteran aeronautical engineer. He works for the air force on plans for new airplanes and apparently he cares not who's shoeshine he ruins. He spent most of the day stepping on assorted prominent toes. Like Brig. Gen. Elliot Roosevelt's.

Gen. Roosevelt, you may remember, urged the government to purchase 101 of the new model photo planes designed by Hughes. Graichen said he didn't believe Gen. R. was fitted by background, experience, or education to be recommending the buying of military planes.

"Are you a pilot?" asked Tom Slack, Hughes' attorney.

"No I'm not," said Graichen. "Neither is colonel, I mean, General Roosevelt."

(The air force says that Roosevelt won a pilot rating during the war and personally piloted planes on several missions over enemy territory.)

GRAICHEN SAID THAT young Roosevelt was the only man in the air force to use pressure in favor of any particular plane manufacturer.

Graichen continued his recital of the things he didn't like. About the Hughes deal. Take wooden airplanes, such as Hughes proposed.

Graichen listed a number of such splintery planes by number, name, and manufacturer. Some lost their wings in midair. Some caught fire and burned all the way to the ground. Others disintegrated and Graichen wouldn't give a wooden nickle for a lumber flying machine.

Fact was, he said, that the air corps brought down from Canada 13 wooden mosquito bombers for tests. The engineers didn't like 'em.

"AND WHEN TIME CAME to send them back to Canada," he continued, "our ferry pilots wouldn't take 'em up. Too dangerous. Civilian pilots had to fly 'em."

One good thing, he indicated, was the fact that the Hughes photo plane was changed from wood to aluminum. Hughes cracked one up a while back and nearly killed himself, but the one remaining, Graichen said, is a first class flying machine. Only it wasn't delivered until long after the war was over. And that's what Graichen was scribbling cuss words about in the first place.

RICHWOOD STUDENT RANKS HIGH IN TEXAS

Chalmer E. Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Holt of Richwood was named the high ranking accountant student at the Metropolitan Business college in Galveston, Tex., according to word received by his parents. A graduate of the Richwood High school in 1937 Mr. Holt served four years with the armed forces one of which was spent with the Army in the European theater. He will complete his course in two years. Mr. and Mrs. Holt make their home in Galveston.

More people were killed by cancer in 1944 than died on all battle fronts in World War II.

In Plain Words

by James Marlow

WASHINGTON — AMERICANS by the thousands write into the state department every month and ask questions like these:

What's our foreign policy; What's our policy on Germany? On Austria? On Japan? On Korea? On Palestine? And so on, endlessly.

Individuals write in, asking the questions. So do groups and organizations.

They ask because, under the huge flood of international events, they get hazy or bogged down.

So, if you're one of those who have asked such questions, you have plenty of company. And plenty of congressmen are puzzled on a lot of the points, too.

The state department finally has decided to wrap up the answers in a single package, one handy bundle. So it has put out a booklet.

ITS NAME IS "Aspects of Current American Foreign Policy."

This booklet, 54 pages long, will be published Friday by the government printing office.

If you want a copy—it's not free—write to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C.

The price? The printing office hasn't decided yet. Probably somewhere between 15 and 50 cents.

In the introduction to the booklet, the state department says:

"Never before have the American people asked so many questions about the facts of our international life. * * *

"The foreign policy of the United States cannot be codified or given formal legal expression in any single official document.

"IT DOES NOT lend itself to such treatment, for it must remain flexible and capable of adjustment to the changing circumstances of the times.

The booklet doesn't try to cover the entire field of foreign policy. And it doesn't go into great detail in the parts it explains.

But, the state department says, the booklet outlines a "number of the major foreign-policy problems confronting the United States today, and some of the difficulties involved in their solution.

"It is hoped, however, that this relatively brief discussion will help American citizens to understand better certain of the issues and problems in our relations with other nations."

THIS IS WHAT the booklet explains:

▶The problems of making peace and occupying enemy territory, like Germany, Japan, Austria, and territory like Korea, which the Japanese had held.

▶The United Nations and what this country has sought to do in the UN and what the Russians have done.

▶The problems of supporting free nations and free elections in countries like Rumania, Bulgaria, and Hungary and what the stumbling blocks have been.

▶European recovery—or the problems of trying to get Europe back on its feet.

▶International economic policy—the problems of working out world trade.

▶Dependent areas. This involves territory like Palestine, the former Italian colonies in Africa, and so on.

▶Armaments and atomic energy. This is an explanation of this country's ideas about world control of atomic weapons and sharing atomic information.

▶The inter-American system—this country's dealings with the other American republics.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Republicans will drop a tax bill in the hopper the day congress opens . . . They figure Harry will be too busy with his speech to notice.

* * *

This will be the third time the Republicans have tried to cut taxes . . . And that's three over par for any party.

* * *

At Lake Success there is some talk of moving the general assembly to Europe . . . If the USSR and the USA can agree on a ship, which seems unlikely.

* * *

But from now on the nations are supposed to speak ikndly of each other or remain silent . . . We may be in for the longest piece or quiet we've had around here.

* * *

The UN hopes to adjourn before December, leaving the field to Joe Louis and Joe Walcott.

* * *

I won't say the UN hasn't done anything in its current session . . . But I think most of it could have been prevented.

TALMADGE BACKER BEATS UP RIVAL

By The Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 6—Wilson S. Morris, chairman of Governor M. E. Thompson's faction of the Democratic party in Georgia, was knocked down and pummeled by a supporter of Herman Talmadge in the Richmond county superior court room today.

The incident occurred shortly before a hearing was scheduled to open in a court suit by Talmadge's Democratic Chairman James S. Peters to determine which faction controls the party in Georgia.

Morris, publisher of the Augusta Chronicle, walked up to Roy Harris, former speaker of the state house of representatives as the latter stood talking to attorneys in the courtroom.

"Roy," Morris asked, "do you publish the Augusta Courier?"

Harris replied, "Yes, Bill, I do."

"Well," pursued Morris—anybody who publishes that is a ——— ———!"

Without answering the chunky Harris leaped upon Morris, a taller and heavier set man, knocked him sprawling in the jury box and beat him about the face. Other attorneys intervened and pulled Harris back, helping Morris to his feet.

The Augusta Courier is a political paper which advocates white supremacy.

New York Stock Quotations

1 O'CLOCK QUOTATIONS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—The general direction of today's stock market remained moderately downward.

Considerable professional selling made for an active opening. Dealings then slowed but declines of fractions to a point or so predominated near midday.

Most ex-dividend stocks were on the offside. Among these were Bethlehem Steel, Great Northern Railway, Sears Roebuck, Deere and Westinghouse. Hesitant were General Motors, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, American Telephone, Western Union, Du Pont, Montgomery Ward and Boeing. Pacific Western Oil and Deep Rock Oil yielded better than a point each.
